Wilson Wins Party Backing

U.K. Will Stay East of Suez

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson routed Wednesday rebels in his Labor party demanding a British military withdrawal from Asia.

In a wide-ranging defence of policy, Wilson pledged to work for neutralization of Southeast Asian trouble spots, including Viet Nam.

The British leader faced the first major challenge to his leadership since winning power 20 months ago. His party caucus, made up of Labor MPs, handsomely endorsed his policy of maintaining a British military presence east of Suez. The vote was 225 to 54.

of Suez by 1969-1970, including withdrawal from Singapore, Malaysia and the Persian Gulf.

The middle-road Liberals and some opposition Conservatives also favor a phased British pull-back from Asia.

Wilson spoke of the Viet Nam war and announced Britain will disassociate herself from any American bombing of North Vietnamese "centres of civilian population." The Americans have been advised of this and they fully understand it.

In another reference he suggested, without elaboration, the diplomats are getting busy yet again in quest of a Viet Nam parley.

American State Secretary Rusk, he said, told him only Friday—and has since repeated publicly—he is ready to go to

Reunification

German Drops 'Bomb'

BONN (Reuters)—Rainer Barzel, parliamentary leader of West Germany's ruling Christian Democrats, dropped a bombshell today with radical proposals for a reunited Germany in which Soviet troops still could be based.

The West German capital was stunned when an advance report was circulated of a speech Barzel was due to make in the West German embassy in Washington and again Friday in New York.

Informed sources said Barzel, widely tipped as a future chancellor, had not cleared his speech in advance with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

His speech contained proposals on German reunification—the dominating issue in German politics—which go far beyond anything ever mooted by Erhard or his predecessor, Konrad Adenauer, although some are similar to the views of the party's coalition allies, the Free Democrats.

Barzel suggested Bonn should take over Communist East Germany's long-term trade agreement with the Soviet Union on a 20-year basis, as a step towards reunification.

He submitted that there still could be a place for Soviet troops in a reunited Germany, as an alternative to the security guarantee for Moscow of maintaining East Germany as a separate state.

He also proposed that expert all-German commissions be formed to draft plans for the future of Germany on behalf of the wartime Big Four, the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, and France, Germany's principal conquerors at the end of the Second World War.

MOSCOW APPROACH

Simultaneously, the three western powers and West Germany should form a working group to study all proposals so far made for a German settlement and prepare a joint approach to Moscow.

Barzel's blueprint also suggests that the Communist party, now banned in West Germany, should be free to operate throughout the country.

Ky Forces Move In At Hue

SAIGON (CP)—Amid signs of disarray among dissident Buddhists, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam moved in paratroops today to take over their northern stronghold of Hue.

Hijacker Executed

HAVANA (Reuters)—A Cuban flight engineer, who tried to hijack an airliner to Miami in March, was executed by firing squad Wednesday.

Angel Maria Betancourt Cardo killed the plane's pilot and guard in his abortive attempt.

Ky's position was strengthened by his military government's decision to extend its term of office until 1967, thereby backing his plan for a step-by-step return to civilian rule.

The paratroops, about 500 strong, swooped on Hue at dawn. The predominantly Buddhist population of 160,000 greeted their arrival with a noisy demonstration, beating with sticks on tin cans and other metal objects.

Air Canada Agreement Ends Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—A compromise agreement on wage increases was reached between Air Canada and 1,453 of its sales employees late Wednesday night, only minutes before the midnight deadline for a strike that threatened to ground the airline.

A spokesman for the Sales Employees Association said representatives of both sides still had to iron out minor details of the agreement, but the strike was called off when the airline agreed to a 15-per-cent increase in wages, spread over 26 months.

An eight-per-cent increase would be retroactive to June 1 and an additional seven per cent would take effect after 12 months.

In addition, a retroactive cash settlement of $150 to $250, depending on seniority, would be paid for the six months since Dec. 1, 1965, when the last contract expired.

NO DETAILS

He was unable to give details on the other points in the contract, or say whether the union had won its bid for a 37½-hour work week.

Sales employees set up picket lines at Montreal International Airport in suburban Dorval as the midnight deadline went by.

WAITED FOR WORD

Shortly after midnight, word went around that a settlement has been reached. But picketing continued until one of the organizers got official word of the agreement.

The union had previously asked for a yearly 10-per-cent increase in a two-year contract

Wilson Fails In Strike Bid

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson apparently failed Wednesday night in a new attempt to get leaders of Britain's striking seamen to promise an early end to their walkout under a compromise agreement.

Wilson made an appeal to the 11,000 seamen negotiating committee of the National Union of Seamen, summoned to his office in a last-minute move before the emergency powers granted the government by Parliament.

After a two-hour parley at 10 Downing Street, William Hogg, union secretary general, said he is not optimistic that his executive committee will vote for peace when it meets today.

He said it is unlikely any decision for or against continuing the tie-up, now in its 32nd day, would be known before Friday.

Later, Wilson talked to the shipowners in his efforts to bring agreement on the seamen's demands for more pay and shorter working hours.

Officials said Wilson warned the union leaders that last week's compromise offer from an impartial court of inquiry was the limit of concessions the government is prepared to make.

Dutch Use Tear Gas Against Rioting Youth

AMSTERDAM (Reuters)—Charged bands of rampaging youths used tear gas against more than 1,000 rioters who surged through the streets of this Dutch capital Wednesday night for the third successive night, smashing property indiscriminately.

All police leave was cancelled and reinforcements were called from outside the city.

Police said between 5,000 and 6,000 persons crowded the streets. More than 1,500 police

Talks Ended Escalation

U.S. Salutes Pig War

By ARCH MACKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Canadian-American pig war of 1859 wasn't much of a campaign—one shot fired in anger and the lone casualty a Canadian porker.

But it is represented in history as a classic case of settling military escalation by international arbitration.

And the U.S. Congress moved closer Wednesday to creating a fitting memorial in the shape of a national park on the battlefield on San Juan Island, just off Victoria.

The necessary bill was approved by the House of Representatives' committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and now awaits House approval.

The pig war arose from the Oregon Boundary Settlement Treaty of 1846. This further step in defining the international boundary left unsettled the ownership of assorted islands between Vancouver Island and Washington State.

The Hudson's Bay Co. and Canadian and American settlers had disputing claims and in 1858, an American farmer named Cutler gunned down a Hudson's Bay pig which was laying waste to his garden.

Escalation set in.

Authorities from Victoria tried to arrest Cutler and the American settlers called for help.

A company of American troops arrived.

Only Wages Now in Dispute As Seaway Strike Nears

OTTAWA (CP)—Mediation talks in the St. Lawrence Seaway dispute adjourned unexpectedly Wednesday and were due to resume at 10 a.m. EDT today with a strike deadline only 26 hours away.

Senator Norman MacKenzie, the federal mediator, told reporters that non-monetary issues had been cleared away and both sides had been given extra time to prepare their arguments on the wage question.

Bruce MacRae of Toronto, chief federal conciliation officer for Ontario, said the talks are working against a deadline of 10 p.m. tonight.

"If we haven't had a settlement by that time they'll have to start clearing shipping out of the canals."

Senator MacKenzie, former president of the University of British Columbia, was smiling and cheerful when he opened the door of the meeting room in the Chateau Laurier and reported that the talks were completed for the day.

President W. J. Smith of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CBRTGW) said the talks had entered a critical stage. There was no indication how long they might go on.

The 1,200 operating employees in the Canadian sections of the international waterway are set to walk off the job at noon EDT Friday unless a new contract is signed.

Chief item in dispute is the union's demand for a 35-per-cent wage increase over two years. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, a government agency, has agreed to accept a conciliation board recommendation for an immediate seven-per-cent raise and a further seven per cent in 1967.

VC Owner Broke, Parts with Medal

TORONTO (CP)—A Victoria, B.C. man who was a VC owner broke, parts with medal.

He said it was turned over to him by a man he would identify only as a former Vancouver man who was an RCAF officer in the Second World War and who now is broke.

He said the man refused an offer of $2,000 for it and stipulated it be sold to someone who would return it to the Black Watch Regiment headquarters in Glasgow. It was presented in 1974-1975 years after the award was instituted — to L. Sgt. Samuel McGaw for gallantry in battle.

Mr. Rosen said the present owner is a descendant of McGaw, who received the medal from the hands of the Queen on the Isle of Wight.

Fulton

Condemned Man Waits

'I Believe in Hanging...But Not Me'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Roger Allen Fulton, 25, believes there is a strong possibility he will walk down death row through the "green door" leading to an abandoned elevator shaft and be hanged.

He says there is nothing he can do about it.

Fulton is a murderer who believes in capital punishment in certain cases—but not his.

He regrets his fatal shooting of Jan Kelderman, father of four, during an armed holdup in May, 1965, but he is not sure the federal cabinet will be any more impressed than were 11 of the 12 on the jury which convicted him of capital murder last October.

The Supreme Court of Canada this week refused to grant him a new trial.

He is due to be hanged Aug. 9 unless the cabinet grants him clemency and the federal ministers must take into account that Parliament recently voted to retain capital punishment.

Fulton's feelings were given in an interview with lawyer Charles Maclean at British Columbia penitentiary recently.

The fact that only one juror voted for leniency at his trial "greatly increased my chances of being executed," he said.

The slender, blonde man who has been in trouble with the law since he stole some candy in Winnipeg at the age of six, said he believes the others were influenced by the fact that his actions left a widow and four children and that his inarticulate nature prevented him from showing his regret.

Fulton said he was shocked when Parliament in April voted to retain capital punishment. He believes he should not be executed because he did not deliberately slay Kelderman during a one-man robbery of a

Ky's Troops Control Hue

Ky told reporters Wednesday he hopes to solve the remaining "problem" of rebellious Hue in a few days. It took him a week of fighting to subdue Da Nang last month.

Buddhist leaders appeared taken back Wednesday by the regime's decision to stay in power.

BOYCOTT SEEN

Some say their followers will boycott the Sept. 11 election of a constituent assembly, whose duties will be limited by junta orders to writing a constitution. That would mean they would be unrepresented in this body, forerunner of a national legislative assembly that the government proposes to have elected next year.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese troops used tear gas and directed bursts of machine-gun fire into the air Wednesday night to disperse stone-throwing demonstrators ranged outside the pagoda headquarters of the anti-government Buddhist movement.

CLAIMS DENIED

Police denied claims by monks inside the pagoda that the firing had killed one person and wounded two others.

The clash climaxed the third day of the struggle between the ruling Ky military junta and Buddhist leaders determined to topple the regime.

Buddhist leaders called on all their followers throughout the

Your Good Health

Nature Intends Kidneys To 'Float' Inside One's Body

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss a dropped kidney. Is surgery to suspend the kidney serious? Is wearing a girdle (advised by my doctor) any great help? I am a woman of 50 and this — 90 pounds.—MRS. J.J.

The dropped or "floating" kidney, as it is sometimes called, doesn't always require surgery. In fact, the kidneys are intended to do a little floating around by nature. They change position slightly when we shift from an upright to a prone position.

The kidneys are supported in part by a surrounding pad of fat. Lean folks like you, without so much "padding," are more likely to have excessive mobility of the kidneys.

Frequently a snug support (a girdle in this instance) will help. In some cases, however, surgery may be necessary. This is a major operation but it is not an uncommon one and it is to be feared.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 34 and recently have been having dizziness a week before my period. Then I feel good again. What is the trouble?—MRS. V.C.

Curiously, salt intake before the menstrual period may be all that is necessary or a short course of diuretics (drugs to encourage release of fluid from the body) might also be indicated.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 23 and will soon have my third Caesarean birth. I am seriously considering having my tubes tied to prevent further pregnancies, but have heard that this often makes a woman very nervous. Is this true? What, if any, are the side effects of this operation? My doctor seems reluctant to do it without saying why.—MRS. P.M.

There are no side effects, and no nervousness, you are worried about having had it done. Both husband and wife should be in thorough agreement, and both should make the decision with the understanding that it will be permanent and cannot be undone later.

True, on occasion surgeons have succeeded in "undoing" the operation later, but you cannot depend on this.

Note to Mrs. D.A.R.: In certain cases of terminal cancer, "regional nerve surgery" is done to reduce pain which otherwise cannot be controlled. It can be a great blessing to the patient. No, it does not result in any brain damage. It is the severing of a nerve trunk which transmits pain impulses.

Asian Policy Backed

Geneva for that purpose any time.

Other major points made by Wilson:

- His cabinet looks forward "to a massive reduction" in the estimated 50,000-strong British garrison in Malaysia. This will begin as soon as the ending of Indonesian - Malaysian confrontation is ratified.

- The government would be glad to quit Singapore, but the Singapore leaders still want the British in and so they will stay.

- There will be no surrender of Britain's principles governing a Rhodesia settlement in current talks with Premier Ian Smith's breakaway regime.

There was little doubt Wilson's political skill won him a triumph.

He asked the caucus for permission to release the text of his speech. He also warned his followers against putting out "slandered and tendentious" versions of their own. Accordingly, his own views held the field, at least temporarily. This was not to say his critics were silenced.

One of them, former navy minister Christopher Mayhew, who quit the government because of its decision to scrap aircraft carriers, said later: "Our policy is the right one and it will gain increasing support in the party and country."

Wilson asked if a Labor government should surrender all British influence in Asia by a pullout and devote itself to giving advice to others in the United Nations.

"It will mean this," he said answering his own question. "You will be leaving Asia to China, the United States and the Soviet Union, with a small peripheral influence exerted by Australia and New Zealand, but with Japan coming up fast on the rails."

"Perhaps there are some who would like to contract out and leave it to the Americans and Chinese, eyeball to eyeball, to face this thing out. The world is too small for that kind of attitude today."

"It is the surest prescription for a nuclear holocaust I could think of."

Wilson claimed Britain's role is to influence the United States. That was why the U.S.S.R. "will come more and more to listen to us." In a reference to President de Gaulle's chosen middle-way mission, Wilson observed:

"France may claim to say more things that Russia likes but they are essentially negative things. And for this very reason France has less, in reality, to offer. And Russia understands this because, when it comes to the realities of power, her interest is to be positive not negative."

Fulton Interviewed

trust company which netted him $200.

He said if he had deliberately killed he could just as well have gone ahead and killed four other witnesses so there would have been no one to testify against him.

During his trial and in the interview he said Kilderman had lunged at him and the gun had gone off a second time during a struggle. It was his first attempt at armed robbery although he had been imprisoned previously for other offences.

Fulton said he believes in capital punishment for prisoners serving life terms who kill guards or other prisoners, for those who commit murder a second time and for professional killers. He believes capital punishment for killers of policemen is no deterrent to future killings.

Fulton figures he has been convicted 24 times on an assortment of crimes. His sentences range from a few months in reformatory school for auto theft to 15 years for second degree burglary in the United States.

Mr. Maclean had told the jury of a tragic criminal record and an underprivileged background. His parents had separated and his mother had to support three children.

Of his killing, Fulton said: "I feel sorry that the man died. He left a widow and the children. I had nothing against the man myself. So I feel it's a waste that he had to die on my account."

If he ever got out of penitentiary he would attempt to help the family, perhaps financially. "I could never repay her for what happened to her..."

German Bombshell

were puzzled at the timing of Barzel's speech. But they doubted that such a senior politician would be seeking prestige by sensationalism.

It was seen more as a move to end stagnation in the German question and to counter the opposition Social Democratic party's planned exchange of public speakers with the East German Communists.

Some observers linked the speech with the important forthcoming state election in North Rhine - Westphalia, West Germany's most populous state, in which indications are that the Social Democrats' popularity has risen steeply in recent months.

But it clashes with Erhard's wish that all parties should work together on all-German policy and that there should be no lone ventures by individuals.

NATO Scrapping Brass

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization set to work Wednesday to streamline its military organization and prepare for moves imposed upon it by President de Gaulle of France.

U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara announced in Washington Wednesday that all U.S. military planes and some war stocks will be pulled out of France. He gave details at a press conference of major shifts of servicemen, dependents and supplies from France to other NATO countries following de Gaulle's order to leave.

By Sept. 1, the United States will transfer two squadrons of C-130 transport planes, totalling 32 aircraft, to Britain.

TWO SHIFTS
After that, six squadrons totalling 90 air force reconnaissance planes will be shifted from France.

A total of 7,500 military and civilian personnel and 10,000 dependents will be involved in the two shifts.

At the same time, France officially informed its 14 NATO partners in a meeting of the permanent NATO council that it had withdrawn 15 planes from duty in West Germany as part of de Gaulle's decision to pull out of NATO's integrated military command by July 1. The French, however, said they had not made a decision yet on the other French air units in West Germany.

STANDING GROUP
France is said to have some 45 planes still in Germany.

In other business, the council, which acts as the alliance's board of directors, fixed July 1 as the date to scrap the standing group, NATO's highest military body.

The action, ordered by NATO foreign ministers in Brussels, Belgium, a week ago, is part of a move aimed at making the alliance more efficient and cutting down on its multiple separate structures.

KNITTING
The standing group, based in Washington and composed of representatives of the United States, Britain and France, will be replaced soon by an integrated international staff. This staff will work closely with Supreme Allied Headquarters, Europe, which is to be moved to a site near Brussels. Meanwhile, the NATO military committee, on which all the alliance members are represented, will handle the standing group's functions.

The NATO council also took steps to knit closer together the separate land and air force commands in central Europe.

The commands now are located at Fontainebleau, near Paris, and the new headquarters will go either to one of the Benelux countries — Belgium, The Netherlands or Luxembourg — or to West Germany.

The council asked for recommendations by members on a new commander for the combined central European staff. French Gen. Jean Crepin, the present commander, will be withdrawn in two weeks by de Gaulle.

FRENCH
De Gaulle is cutting all his forces from the NATO military command July 1, and has ordered SHAPE and other NATO installations out of France by next July 1.

The NATO council also began preliminary discussions on the role and mission of France's forces in West Germany after they are pulled out of NATO.

All told there are 72,000 French troops in West Germany and the alliance wants to set up co-operative arrangements with France for use of the troops in case of war. De Gaulle's aides have said that if the alliance wants to impose anything suggesting continued integration of the forces, he will summon them home.

LOYAL
In Washington, Ambassador Charles Lucet of France told a National Press Club luncheon that France still is loyal to NATO but feels that it needs reorganization to meet the "requirements of a changing world."

Chou's Job Ambition Of Peng?

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—The official Yugoslav news agency reported from Peking Wednesday that Peng Chen, ousted in a purge as first secretary of the Peking Communist party committee, may have been seeking to take over from Chou En-Lai as premier of Red China.

"The case of Peng Chen is only the latest variant and another proof that in conflicts between the leadership and possible currents, the latter must fall victim," said the report.

The dispatch said that "what Peng Chen had in mind as part of his personal ambitions was one of the leading posts in the party."

India Seeking Russian Aid

By DAVID VAN PRAAGH
Special

NEW DELHI — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, who earlier let it be known that she could not leave India for the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference or a non-aligned powers' summit conference, will go to Moscow July 12.

Official sources contradicted the information that Mrs. Gandhi would not leave the country until after the elections next February.

Mrs. Gandhi will go to the Soviet Union for several days on what is called an exchange of views with Premier Alexei Kosygin and other Soviet leaders.

There can be little doubt that the main reason for her trip this time is to assure the Soviet leadership that recent decisive steps toward a freer Indian economy will not change the country's Socialist nature and goals.

While India has asked for about six times as much aid from the West for its four five-year plan as it has from Communist countries, it is still counting on $1.5 billion in aid over five years from the Soviet Union and the associate countries, in addition to military aid.

Soviet aid is particularly important to India in the shoe-plate sectors of steel — Moscow has promised to help build its second and India's largest Government-owned steel mill — oil and heavy machinery.

Mrs. Gandhi is also expected to discuss Indo-Pakistani relations and Viet Nam with Mr. Kosygin.

There is a power that surpasses all human might. This power is capable of helping man on each step of his journey to eternity. It can calm a troubled heart and lift a weary spirit. For centuries, un-believing men have denied this power exists... but they have passed on, and the power remains. It is still the hope of a meaningful life for every man.

This power is found in a life of service to Christ... a power for today! Tonight, Dr. Carl Spain will discuss one part of this power. You will want to hear his timely lesson on:

Reason Unseated

BRITISH MERCHANT seamen, who have been on strike for a month now, undoubtedly have had valid reasons for complaint. For one thing, their scale of earnings does not compare favorably with West German and Scandinavian rates, which caused some bitterness.

As long as the redress they sought was reasonable they might have expected to enjoy the support of the Transport and General Workers Union, for example, which includes the longshoremen in its membership.

Even the public generally might have concurred in a fair settlement proposal which their fine record of service to the nation certainly deserves.

Unfortunately, it is the militant left-wing of the union which, up to now, has been dictating terms; and the terms are so tough that even the longshoremen refuse to support them, and continue to work the docks in spite of furious protests.

On the face of it, the 56-hour week worked by deep sea sailors looks like a harsh commitment. But it should not be forgotten that a year ago they worked a 44-hour week. The seamen chose the longer work period in return for wage and leave benefits.

Shipowners have offered a 48-hour week immediately and a 40-hour week next year. This is unacceptable to the union.

An independent inquiry has recommended a 40-hour week within 12 months, and the government, reluctantly, would probably agree to it. But the seamen adamantly refuse. They want the 40-hour week right now.

Even the left-wing Sunday Citizen suggests the inquiry's recommendation is sensible and should have been accepted.

And the politically non-aligned News of the World berates the seamen's leadership, declaring: "No sane person can argue that delay of one year (of a 40-hour week) involves a question of principle that could justify an attempt to strangle the nation."

Yet that is precisely what the highly articulate and militant left wing of the union is attempting to do: strangle the country into submission.

This is the sort of thing that can happen—in any country—where control escapes from the hands of moderate men.

In Britain, where the world-wide operation of the merchant service is so essential to the satisfactory support of the economy, a strike of this nature could cripple the nation for years to come. Moreover, once the merchant trade is lost it might never be recovered. And where would the 40-hour week be then?

For the sake of all concerned it is to be hoped that compromise will soon prevail.

Meanwhile, the British experience serves as an example to others of the danger of radicalism in labor disputes, when men are stirred to unreasonable anger so that their judgment is clouded and justice is blind indeed.

Something Different

IT IS something of a minor miracle when a prominent party man voices public praise for the leader of an opposing political faith.

True it is that Mr. Douglas Fisher is no longer as he was before the last federal election—a leading figure of NDP Commons benches—having turned his undoubted talents towards journalism and allied pursuits instead of running again for Parliament.

But he is still a strong supporter of the NDP cause, he reaffirmed, which makes his comments all the more impressive.

Addressing a Conservative audience in Toronto, in itself a departure worthy of note, he came out openly in praise of Mr. Diefenbaker.

He commended the former prime minister for his "healthy suspicion of corporate interests and the bureaucrats of the civil service," and said also that Mr. Diefenbaker had dealt with the Munsinger case just as he had to and that he (Mr. Fisher) was shocked at the way Mr. Justice Spence had conducted the inquiry into that affair.

He obviously agrees with Mr. Davie Fulton, whose recent pungent remarks on this subject probably have found supporting echo in the minds of many other people across the land.

Mr. Fisher doesn't intend to desert the NDP, but he is tolerant enough not to belaud his attitudes by the extreme partisanship that has been the chief factor in dimming the image of Parliament.

If parliamentarians behaved not like enemy platoons but as MPs who differ but nevertheless respect views opposite to their own, eliminating the petty animosities that Hansard so often records, the country would be much better served.

Would that Mr. Fisher's example were catching.

Dawdling Phil

FOR A LOVER of speed who even considers it worth a not insignificant chunk of the taxpayers' money that his flying time between Victoria and Kamloops should be jet-trimmed, Mr. Gagliardi can be exasperatingly slow in some respects.

Such is the case in regard to establishing the exact location of the proposed Patricia Bay freeway. On this subject he and his department remain mum. And meanwhile Saanich is tied up on further development of what is increasingly dubbed its "downtown" area, the section east of Douglas between Cloverdale and Vernon through which the freeway almost certainly will pass and likely will have inter-connection with other main arteries. The municipal planner has told the council that planning in this district is almost impossible in these circumstances.

It is unfair to the municipality and its ratepayers if growth here, of the commercial, high-tax-revenue type, is indefinitely postponed because no one knows where the highway entrance will run and what property will have to be acquired for it.

A report on the future road needs of Greater Victoria has been in the hands of the government and the municipalities for months. The minister no longer has the excuse that the department must wait to take this into consideration. What other reason is there for delay?

Flying Phil is blocking traffic. For once he can be invited—implored—to step on the gas.

"A non-Montreal Anglais to see you sir."

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax ...
By TOM TAYLOR

I WAS deeply engrossed in a tale of the FBI in one of those magazines that placate patients before they see their doctors when, alas, the nurse called me in.

So I never got to proper grips with what was a real who-dunnit; all about the disguises an FBI man might assume when penetrating the lairs of wrongdoers. Impersonation as a fine art, no less, as it had to be when the risk of discovery had doleful implication.

So naturally, having the mind I have, I began thinking about this business of taking on another character.

One sees bits of this on the TV screen, albeit these are mostly impressions of other show people and usually lasting no more than 60 seconds. Movies too sometimes make the hero double for someone else, and offhand I think the best chap at this sort of business would be Alec Guinness. He plays so many opposite-type parts without noticeable make-up he would seem a natural for impersonation.

There is of course a vast gulf between a movie and a real-life security agent posing as someone other than he is. A movie is shot in little bits, a boring affair if you're watching the filming, and even Guinness wouldn't have to sustain a role for longer than brief camera "takes".

I can remember seeing Paul Muni as the star of a movie filmed here that many modern Victorians probably don't know about. It was titled "Commando Strike at Dawn," the wartime story of an attack on a Nazi occupied Norwegian village. Finlayson Arm was a fiend and the commandos who climbed its steep banks were Canadian Scottish soldiers, bent on capturing a German airfield supposedly on the other side of the Malahat.

And Muni, in the role of the chief figure of all this imbroglio, in one scene I saw at close range, behind a hedge, was "shot" time and time again until the director was satisfied.

A real impersonator, such as the bogus professor who was convicted in Ontario this week as an impostor after spending three years on a university faculty, would have to be an artist. Just like the bogus doctor who served on an RCN ship in the Korean campaign before being found out.

He was a great impersonator, and news stories since that time told of various other escapades that really were a compliment to his aptitudes and versatility even if they were strictly out of order.

But like the FBI men whose exploits in this realm the nurse cut short, thus ensuring I wouldn't know myself how to assume a disguise, these two chaps were obviously masters of their trade.

It is one thing to take a personality for a few moments, filming but something much else to live with others in close contact day after day, weeks on end or even years, and never betray the image being portrayed. All the little nuances of ordinary conversation, the little bits of personal past life that individuals confide to one another or willy-nilly come to disclose, in the case of medical or academic impersonation the terminology embraced in discussion—all these make it a marvel that anyone can carry off such a part for long.

No wonder the judge said of the Lakehead University "professor" that he was impressed by his "obvious ability."

I shall never know I suppose how the FBI chaps did their stuff, false beards and all, but it won't matter. I could never be an impersonator; not unless I mimed it all. And then only with a prompter at my side.

Ottawa Offbeat

Thousands for Ice Cubes

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

PARLIAMENT may be in a mess, but parliamentarians are doing all right.

It was less than two years ago that Agriculture Minister J. J. "Joe-Joe" Greene, then a mere MP, was complaining that the typewriter in his Centre Block office must have come over with Jacques Cartier. It was that old.

And New Democrat Murdo Martin of Timmins was grumbling that things were so crowded in his office his secretary had to step outside each time he received a visitor on private business.

A steno spent so much time drinking coffee in the Commons cafeteria while her boss was in conference that she "swished," and actually "listened" going around corners.

Now every MP has his own office, with a rug on the floor and lined floor-to-ceiling drapes and Group of Seven prints on the wall—and every secretary, a new electric typewriter.

Perhaps best of all—but for Heaven's sake, don't say anything about it—they're in line to get their own refrigerator-type water cooler that holds a case of beer, cans or bottles, and best of all, makes its own ice cubes.

Parliament Hill, officially, has been dry since the old Centre Block, with its bar, burned down 49 years ago.

It became positively arid midway through former Prime Minister Diefenbaker's six-year regime when he banned the serving of hard stuff at his receptions and proclaimed tea and coffee the acceptable beverages.

Washington Calling

The Car Safety Standards Struggle

By MARQUEE CHILDS

AS the shock market tremors nervously dominated and certain indicators point to trouble ahead in the U.S. economy the search for scapegoats is on. The auto manufacturers are offering up a most improbable candidate in 30-year-old Ralph Nader, a free-lance lawyer-journalist.

It is as though his book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," had with a single blow punctured the boom. If only by their bungled attempts to discredit Nader the manufacturers succeeded in creating a David who with a single stone from his sling brought down the Goliath of American industry, representatives over-all about one-sixth of the entire economy.

The struggle over an automotive safety bill is on and no less than James M. Roche, president, and George Russell, executive vice-president, of General Motors, the industrial colossus with more than half of the business, are walking the corridors of the U.S. Senate office buildings. Their immediate concern is twofold—the criminal penalties for deliberate and willful violation of safety standards and the date when the standards shall be effective. They put their case gently and politely to Sen. Vance Hardee (D., Ind.), who has proposed, along with Rep. James A. Mackay (D., Ga.), who has proposed, amendments that toughen the administration bill.

Nader is a singularly American phenomenon—the gadfly, the reformer with a singleness of purpose that gives him the strength of 10. So concentrated is his aim on the engineering safety of the car that even his backers on Capitol Hill are concerned lest other factors in the slaughter on the highways be lost sight of. And that slaughter is just now the reason for renewed agonizing.

The curve of death and

Way to Disaster

Our Readers' Views

AM moved to suggest that coming on top of the current spiral of inflation, the rash of strikes in progress and the threats of more to come, which fill the air and news columns now, all point to national disaster if permitted to continue.

How long will it take, one may ask, until labor and capital, left to themselves, will reach the conclusion they must accept some form of profit sharing or that civilization as we know it, must perish?

It just isn't logical that work stoppages continue to be tolerated on projects that affect the national economy or that impose unwarranted inconveniences and hardships on the general public, as is being done right now by the longshoremen in Montreal, Quebec, and Three Rivers; by the garbage collectors in Vancouver; by the Seamen's Union in Great Britain, and others.

Now, also, 1,453 ticket sales people in Air Canada threaten to tie up that national operation and so do relatively few dock workers of the St. Lawrence Seaway, another vital sector of the national economy.

For too long has the public accepted the fact that politicians regard the rights of labor as sacrosanct because of the numbers of their votes.

This is not logical nor is it just. It is shameful and an abuse of office.

The time has come to call on those in authority across the country to prohibit work stoppages and other such actions that endanger the national welfare, since otherwise not only the guilty but also the innocent are faced with national disaster.

The power of public opinion on government is enormous but inarticulate until aroused.

The power of the press to arouse public opinion is also enormous.

Mr. Editor, cannot something similar be done in this day and age before it is too late?

F. S. B. HEWARD,
2554 Beaufort Rd.

Road Remedy

During the past half-century, the public has been treated to more and more frightening statistics regarding death and disability arising out of the ever increasing use of the automobile.

Little of what I have read concerning proposed corrective action appears to approach the matter in a logical, unbiased, and/or constructive manner. The experts blame the manufacturers; the manufacturers blame the drivers; and, the totalers blame the use of alcohol. All are equally narrow, short-sighted, trite and fallacious.

Any proposed corrective action, anticipating general acceptance, must be based on the premise that the automobile was designed as a convenience to man and that man will not be retrained to accommodate the automobile. This should be self-evident.

The root cause of the increasing carnage lies in a combination of two basic factors, i.e.: (a) Placing 200-h.p. machines under the control of 2-h.p. individuals, and (b) Not providing a satisfactory alternative form of transportation.

Contributing to (a), above:

anything come before a state legislature the automotive lobby descends in force. The states have not even begun to do the job that is one reason a federal safety bill is all but certain.

What form it will take is another matter. Hardee, Mackay and others believe a new regulatory agency like the Federal Aviation Agency is essential. Putting the auto regulatory function in the commerce department means a built-in conflict of interest, they argue since the job of the department is to promote business. Before John T. Connor became secretary of commerce he was a director of General Motors.

With 90,000,000 cars and trucks on the road in the United States safety standards are so simple matter and the $10,000,000 for safety promotion in the administration bill seems a very small drop in the vast domain in which the motorcar is king. Nader has figures to show that the direct accident cost is on the average $100 a car. This includes the loss of wages, medical payments, property damage and insurance and other expenses. Including the indirect costs the total would be up to $20 billion.

The auto manufacturers long accustomed to praise for leading the production parade are bewitched and bewildered by the uproar over the disclosure of flaws in design and construction. They say that, of course, they want to see safety standards established. But this cannot be done overnight. General Motors points out that it took six years to develop the collapsible steering wheel.

While cutbacks in auto production may have contributed to the stock market decline it was far from the sole cause. And it would be hard to prove that the highly publicized flap over safety was a major factor in the cutback.

Green Light

Recently in one of the newspapers a federal member of Parliament, a Liberal member, was quoted as saying what a wonderful premier we had in Mr. Pearson and the good things the government had done. Well in my humble opinion I think this is the wisest and best government that Canada has ever had. That is in my 40 years' recollection.

When the Liberal government gave in practically 100 per cent to the postal workers, they gave the green light to every union in the country to go ahead and strike, because the Liberals figure that if the government gives in to what they want, they can all be beaten and with the postal workers there was no compromise, no arbitration. They just gave in to their demands. Hence the reason for all those strikes. No government, federal, provincial or civic, can allow itself to be held up.

Vancouver city council is to be really commended for its stand against the strikes even though the city is taking a beating. So Mr. Pakenham, this is one of the good things the people will remember at the next election.

Just a few more like this and as Mr. Diefenbaker alludes to them the six-buck boys will be out of an $18,000-a-year job.

Kennedy Visit

In an editorial you describe the speeches made by Robert Kennedy on his recent visit to South Africa as "bold." I should describe them as "brash."

Considering the state of things in his own country over segregation, civil rights, etc., it would have been better had he stayed at home and swept his own doorstep. Rabble rousing does not take much effort. Does Kennedy want to start a South African Salmat? It was good to hear that many in the crowd shouted, "Kennedy, go home!"

The truth of the matter was he never should have gone.

Canada Grabs Initiative

By DAVE MCINTOSH, from Ottawa

Canada is stirring things up on a wide international front to try to take advantage of what officials see as an almost worldwide restlessness for escape from the confines of the cold war.

External Affairs Minister Martin confirmed Wednesday in the Commons that he has sent special envoy Chester Ronning on another mission to Communist North Viet Nam, the second since March.

Mr. Ronning presumably is sounding out Hanoi on the possibility of negotiations to end the Viet Nam War.

Saturday in Springfield, Ill., Prime Minister Pearson said in a speech dealing with the North Atlantic Alliance:

"We must move forward with new resolve toward an international community with common political institutions, which covers more than a single continent, and spans the Atlantic."

He said at another point: "It would be short-sighted not to realize that the attitude of Western Europe to American commitments in Europe is changing; just as the attitude of Eastern Europe toward Moscow is changing."

Mr. Martin has been urging improved relations between NATO and its counterpart in Eastern Europe, the Warsaw Pact, as a prerequisite for reaching a settlement of the German and Berlin problems.

An informed view is that Communist Romania is showing the way to dissolution of the Warsaw Pact just as France's actions may lead to disintegration of NATO.

Sources close to the cabinet said some ministers are beginning to question seriously an annual Canadian outlay of $1,570,000,000 for defence and are critical of the planned construction in 1966-72 of a multi-million-dollar, 38-storey defence headquarters.

These sources also said some ministers would like to see at least a partial withdrawal of Canadian forces from Europe. A group of Conservatives is openly advocating this.

BACKGROUND

One source said that the Canadian government might bring some Canadian troops home soon and cut defence expenditures if it were not for the fear of American economic retaliation.

On other fronts:

Mr. Martin has been insisting that establishment of future United Nations peace-keeping forces must coincide with attempts at mediation of the disputes which called the forces into being in the first place.

Mr. Martin last week in Brussels saw the Greek and Turkish foreign ministers concerning the situation in Cyprus where nearly 1,000 Canadian soldiers are serving as part of a UN force.

Mr. Pearson Saturday probably hit the U.S. where it hurts when he said: "A guarantee of nuclear support against aggression simply does not now have the credibility that would make it a fully effective deterrent and, therefore, a guarantee of security."

This is exactly what de Gaulle has been saying, despite American protests to the contrary: That the U.S. might not come to the nuclear defence of Europe when, by doing so, it would invite a Soviet nuclear attack on itself.

Mr. Pearson also said: "An alliance for defence only is an anachronism in 1966, especially when nuclear power is not shared, by possession or control, among its members."

Canada has also been conducting "discreet probes" as a member of the International Truce Supervisory Commission in Viet Nam to examine any and all leads bearing on possible moves toward negotiations.

Informants said a new Geneva conference appears the only adequate framework for Viet Nam negotiations. It was the 1954 Geneva meeting which ended the civil war between the French and Vietnamese and established the truce commission.

Speeches Electrified South African Students

Kennedy Fans Winds of Change

By HUGH WINSOR
From Dar-es-Salaam

Senator Robert Kennedy says that by adopting the non-violent methods of the U.S. civil rights workers, South African students could weaken, perhaps destroy, the forces of apartheid.

"I think the students could change the whole atmosphere and they are the only hope," Senator Kennedy told me during an interview on the flight from Johannesburg after his four-day visit to South Africa.

"If three or four thousand students decided to stage sit-ins in the major cities, they would tie the country up and bring widespread attention to their cause."

"That is the only way they will be able to do anything. The American and British business interests will not take a stand against South African policy as long as they are making money and there are no difficulties," he said.

Kennedy said the students would have to pick a non-racial issue such as the persecution of student leader Ian Robertson and be prepared to go to jail. The students have already demanded that Robertson be charged in court of law or be released.

If they stick together the government could not really do much because many of them are sons and daughters of prominent people.

If the students are successful in mounting a more intensive opposition, Kennedy will rightly be able to take a large share of the credit. The treatment of their leader has shocked them deeply and his fellow leaders live in continual fear of a knock on the door from the security police.

The Kennedy visit has changed a lot that. It is almost impossible (unless you are a Republican or a Southerner) to be in the Kennedy magnetic field and not to pick up some of the charge.

The students were electrified. They and the intellectual community have been starved of any inspiration or contact with the mainstream of Western thought.

This felt acutely, especially by the English-speaking community. It was significant that in Durban, the English stronghold, the thousands of people who thronged to his hotel were nearly all adults — professional people and businessmen as well as chambermaids.

The Kennedy speeches broke of little new ground. As one editorial writer put it: "He did not try to tell South Africans how to solve their racial problems. All he did was to restate fundamental Christian beliefs."

"So far have we deviated from those beliefs that he could not have delivered a more damning indictment of our way of life had he launched an explicit attack on it."

The cynic could say this is a tribute to his speech writers and advisers. But in Durban he ignored the prepared text and spoke for two hours with a sincerity that gripped his audience.

On the other hand an African minister referred to Kennedy as "that little snip of a man spreading lies" and said

Kennedy didn't need "to come 5,000 miles just to read us the Ten Commandments."

Even if the speeches were old stuff it was the first time South Africans had been faced with such a glaring repudiation of their way of life in so forceful and public a manner.

I watched tears come to the eyes of a pretty white student as she listened to Kennedy denounce "the illusion... the cruel belief in the difference between people based on the color of their skin."

I know a reporter is not supposed to admit such things but I could not suppress the lump in my throat when we toured the huge African settlement near Johannesburg and watched hundreds of school children being told they were equal in the eyes of God if not in the eyes of the white South Africans.

LBJ Popularity Falls But War Fever Grows

By ARCH MACKENZIE
From Washington

The American public's willingness to endure a long war in Viet Nam has been one of President Johnson's main worries.

As political unrest swelled in South Viet Nam, for example, more Americans displayed doubts about being there at all according to public opinion polls.

Now, while that sector seems calmer, indications are that more people than ever favor expanded military efforts to end the war in a hurry.

This trend coincides with the progressive decline in President Johnson's popularity rating.

The decline corresponds with the falling popularity expected for most leaders who have served comparable periods in office. But it is no less a headache as the president and the Democratic party proceed toward congressional elections in November amid trying domestic and foreign problems.

There is more appetite now by Republicans to criticize conduct of the war rather than let such Democrats as Senators J. W. Fulbright, Wayne Morse or even Robert Kennedy do the job for them.

One recent survey shows more than 50 per cent of those queried feel now it is wrong not to blockade the northern port of Haiphong.

Nearly 35 per cent now favor bombing the port and the northern capital of Hanoi.

A reduced majority want of hold the line on existing military policy and nearly 40 per cent now are said to favor taking the ground war northward.

Frustration about getting the Viet Cong and their northern College Education Is Not Necessary!

By HUGH GARNER

I'm a dissenting dropout from the idea that a college education is a necessity today, or that it is a worthwhile goal of our young people.

Novelist John O'Hara once wrote: "I have a theory that most men and women get very little out of college, and that instead of taking the course offered on a college level, the students would be better off if they were to repeat the four years of high school."

Judging by some of the letters I get from college students, I think they'd have been better off repeating their public school years, learning to read, write, spell, and how to compose a basic English sentence.

Of course, O'Hara and I never went to college, as neither did Ernest Hemingway, William Faulkner, Winston Churchill, and a list of writers as long as a library shelf. The truth is, a college education has ruined more born writers than anything else.

O'Hara is a member of a fast-disappearing breed who are snobbish about their prep school, but he also has a better knowledge of American colleges than most pedagogues.

In this age of academic criticism, most of the critically acclaimed novelists are academics, which is probably what is wrong with today's novels. After all, Scott Fitzgerald wrote This Side of Paradise more than 45 years ago, so why do they keep trying to imitate it?

Many of today's parents are frantically trying to push their moronic offspring into a university, not to educate them but to give them (and themselves) social status and financial and avocational prestige. There's a cheaper and much better way.

Allow your child to develop his natural abilities in the arts, athletics or entertainment. These are the best ways today to achieve fame, fortune and his place in Who's Who—the consolation prize of us uneducated slobs.

Wildlifers Seek New Injunction To Stop Logs

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — One legal action failed but another was in the works to halt a provincial government-authorized log drive down the Stellako River near here.

Dick Phillips, vice-president of the British Columbia Wildlife Federation, said Wednesday the federation will seek an injunction halting the drive, thus enforcing a federal fisheries order.

A similar action Tuesday was postponed indefinitely in Supreme Court here by Mr. Justice J. S. Atkins. Application for the injunction, brought by a group of resort owners and conservationists in the area, should have been served on Attorney-General Bonner and the federal fisheries officials in advance, the justice ruled.

WILL BE SERVED

Mr. Phillips said the wildlife federation application would be served on the attorney-general and fisheries officials late Wednesday or early today.

The log drive, authorized Tuesday by the B.C. government in defiance of a federal fisheries order, will bring some 8,000,000 board feet of timber to Fraser Lake from Francis Lake, seven miles up the Stellako.

The federal ban was imposed to prevent damage to spawning grounds on the river, where some 120,000 salmon are expected to spawn in September.

NO EVIDENCE

Resources Minister Williston said the federal government is trying to gain indirect control of B.C. rivers through its accepted authority over fisheries. But, he said, Ottawa has not produced evidence to show that the drive will harm the spawning beds.

A federal fisheries department study last year showed log jams had gouged and eroded the gravel river bottom where the salmon spawn.

Mr. Williston said the drive is being carefully supervised and checked by the B.C. Research Council and if any damage results, B.C. will not authorize further drives.

PICKET BOATS

About 800,000 board feet of timber went down the river Tuesday, sweeping past five picket boats sent out by resort operators. The drive of the entire 8,000,000 feet, enough lumber to build 600 to 700 three-bedroom homes, is expected to take 10 days.

The federal order banning the drive was issued by Fisheries Minister Robichaud to Fraser Lake Sawmills Ltd., but the provincial forest service stepped in and seized the logs, claiming the sawmill still owed the provincial government stumpage fees.

The company, acting as bailiff for the B.C. government, is conducting the drive, towing the huge booms with tug boats.

Top Bird Made Good Time

The Capital City Racing Pigeon Club has reported the results of its sixth race of the season. A total of 288 birds Sunday covered the 260 miles from Birch Island.

Backing a 20-mile-an-hour headwind, J. Arnold's winning bird covered the distance in just over seven hours, 22 minutes. J. Lawrence's bird followed closely in seven hours, 23 minutes and six seconds and B. Woodley's pigeon came in just 32 seconds later.

In the junior competition, S. Mawdsley's bird landed safely home eight hours, 12 minutes and six seconds after being released.

Federal Medicare

Doctors Given Choice

EDMONTON (CP) — The federal government has given an assurance that it will allow doctors to practise outside any national medical care insurance program.

The announcement was made Wednesday by Dr. R. Kenneth Thomson of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Medical Association, at the organization's annual meeting here.

The meeting also was told that the association is pressing for legislation that would ensure that therapeutic abortions and sterilization are legal in certain circumstances.

Another suggestion was that asthma sufferers should be prohibited from participating in underwater sports.

ASSURANCE

Dr. Thomson said the CMA has been assured that as far as Ottawa is concerned, patients who deal with doctors working outside the medical insurance program will still be entitled to insurance benefits.

However, he added, each province, which will be responsible for the actual administration of the medical insurance within its own boundaries, will have the final say in this matter.

Ottawa proposed to establish country-wide medical insurance for all citizens by paying half the cost of medical insurance schemes operated within the provinces.

"The main concern of the medical profession has been that the federal legislation should in no way prohibit or destroy the right of any insured citizen to receive the full benefits of his medical insurance when he consults a qualified physician, whether or not that physician is a participant in any plan," Dr. Thomson said.

"We agree that this is a matter which must be determined eventually by the provinces in the development of the program which they desire but our concern was that there should be nothing in the federal legislation which would prohibit the right of the insured patient to receive the full benefits."

The CMA proposes that a therapeutic abortion to end a pregnancy be lawful in the following circumstances:

• When it is performed by a qualified doctor with the approval of a therapeutic abortion committee which would be set up in most hospitals.

• When it is performed in an approved hospital—the CMA is to give further consideration to the question of what will constitute an approved hospital in such cases.

• When the patient and, when the hospital abortion committee deems necessary, the spouse or guardian have given consent.

• When the continuance of the pregnancy may endanger the life or physical or mental health of the patient.

Dr. S. Segal of Vancouver, a member of a panel discussing chronic lung diseases in children, said diving clubs should withhold licenses from sufferers of asthma and doctors should be more aware of the underwater hazards faced by respiratory victims.

"Any type of small emergency could lead to small amounts of water on the lung and could lead to a spasm," Dr. Segal said.

Pensioners Starve?

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Mayor E. H. Reed has launched an investigation into charges that pensioners in this Lakehead city are starving.

He said Wednesday: "If any member of council is aware of a case where a person is going without food, and in effect starving, then he is being negligent in his duty. He should report the matter to the welfare officer."

Aldermen Mickey Hennessy and Harold Lockwood said Tuesday people living on pension benefits in the city are starving.

"I checked with the welfare officer and he has assured me no one is turned away. There are lots of people struggling to the welfare department, they exist and this includes many younger people receiving low salaries.

"If they can prove they are in need, through investigation by the welfare department, they will receive assistance levelled by the two aldermen is very serious "and it will do the city's image much harm."

Aids 'Trips'

Park For LSD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three young Greenwich Villagers Wednesday proposed a national park—possibly policed by Zen monks—as a launching pad for "trips" with LSD.

They were Walter H. Bowart, 27, mustached editor of the "East Village Other" and two pet companions, Paula Sherwood, 26, and Eve Babitz, 23.

All three told the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee that they have taken LSD.

As for marijuana, Miss Babitz said, "It is not fattening, you don't get a hangover, it's not addictive—and, well, it's nice."

"Everybody, but everybody I know uses it—except my grandmother and grandfather."

It was Miss Babitz, tall and trim, who offered the suggestion of a national park or reserve for users of LSD and other psychedelic drugs.

Sen. Quentin Burdick (D-N.D.), asked her what the government should do about the problem of LSD.

"I think you ought to set up a reserve in the country," Miss Babitz replied.

She said Zen monks or scientists could run the reserve so that no one would be alone on a "trip."

All three agreed that no one should be admitted without passing psychological tests. Bowart told the subcommittee that no one should take LSD if they have emotional problems.

All three said they would continue to use LSD even if Congress made it illegal.

Miss Babitz, a native of Los Angeles, said that before she took LSD she was a confirmed hypochondriac. "I was afraid to go to the doctor for a checkup because I was sure he would find something terribly wrong with me," she said.

"I don't do that anymore—I've stopped," she added. "After my first session with LSD I was never afraid of doctors again. I wasn't even afraid of dying. I'm not afraid of dying now."

Miss Sherwood, a college senior, said, "What LSD did for me in the area of career choice was to make me realize that my personality is simply not suited to a commercial career and is, in fact, suited to teaching small children."

"One can argue that experience contributed to my decision to teach and doubtless this is true, but without LSD, I feel the process would have taken much longer."

Bowart, who doubles as a publisher and artist, has had 31 "experiences" with LSD and peyote and issued a novel invitation.

He asked that "before any action is decided upon, a representative from this committee, voluntarily and under proper conditions—should have an LSD session and report back to the committee."

Burdick, the only member present, smiled but did not accept.

A great day to discover how little long distance costs

On this special day the voices of loved ones, perhaps from hundreds of miles away, have a special place in our hearts. Memories are sharpened, experiences recaptured. It is a day when togetherness means so much and—as always with B.C. TEL—costs so little.

Now a student son or daughter away at college can afford a long distance call home (especially if they call "collect"). Long distance rates are among the very few items of personal expenditure which, over the years, have lagged far behind the general rise in other living costs. In fact, many long distance calls actually cost less in dollars and cents today than 10 years ago. Moreover, after 6 pm and all day Sunday they are cheaper by about one-fifth.

Check the rates yourself in your telephone book or dial "O" and ask the operator. You'll be surprised how little it costs to enjoy "the next best thing to being there." Here, for example, are a few current charges:

VANCOUVER—PRINCE GEORGE..... $1.35
NEW WESTMINSTER—CALGARY..... $1.50
VICTORIA—TORONTO..... $1.95
(Evening, station-to-station calls, first 3 minutes)

On this important day of the year there's more reason than ever to use Long Distance for all it's worth!

Drury:

Trade Will Expand

By JOSEPH MacSWEENEY

PARIS (CP)—Greater investment and technological exchange between France and Canada will "soon result in a significant expansion of trade between us," Canadian Industry Minister C. M. Drury said Wednesday.

Drury reported to a press conference on the findings and recommendations following a 12-day visit by a 22-man mission.

LEADERS DECIDED

"This was the first time such a high-level economic mission has been sent to France from Canada," said a communiqué explaining it was the result of de Gaulle and Prime Minister Pearson when they met in 1964.

Canadian and French spokesmen — the Canadians represented every region of Canada — met Wednesday to outline the potential of trade between the countries, now "ridiculously low," in the words of one Frenchman.

RESULTS GOOD

"The mission is most gratified by the results of their visit," said Drury.

"The many discussions and contacts have provided us with the basis for suggestions for furthering closer economic collaboration between the two countries and their respective business communities."

FINAL TALKS

Drury's final formal interview Wednesday night was with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. He earlier saw Premier Georges Pompidou, Finance Minister Michel Lèbre, External Trade Minister Charles de Chambrun, Defence Minister Pierre Messmer and Raymond Marcellin, minister of industry and research.

Mission members, meanwhile, met in committees and individually with their French opposite numbers of the financial and banking community. There were numerous industrial visits in the Paris area as well as to the tidal-power plant on the Rance River in Brittany and the nuclear power station at Avoine-Chinon. A New Brunswick expert said the Rance project may be helpful to development of Bay of Fundy power.

NO TALKS ON URANIUM

But Drury, answering a question, said there was no discussion of possible sale of Canadian uranium to France—a project that was raised unsuccessfully last year.

Drury thanked the French government for its hospitality and said that Canada looked forward to extending an equally friendly greeting, particularly during Expo 67 in Montreal.

A communiqué said:

● Arrangements should be developed to ensure that scientific and technological information available from either country reaches those to whom it can be useful in the other.

● The exchanges and visits of scientists research technicians and engineers and students should be developed.

● Subject to the "availability of necessary capital," there is scope for the further development of French investment in Canada and Canadian investment in Canada and Canadian investment in France.

'Him' Killed By Car

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, feeling as though she had been "hit in the stomach," sadly announced Wednesday night that President Johnson's Beagle, Him, was struck by a car on the White House driveway and killed.

The first lady told reporters of the accident as she sat in the green-draped drawing room of the Nebraska governor's mansion.

She said she learned of the tragedy from one of her Secret Service agents as she was sitting in the review watching the colorful Nebraska parade.

Holiday for Riches?

Women Have Five Days to Hit Gold

By JULIE CLARK

There's definitely gold there, and these five Victoria women aim to find it.

With picks and pans and a sample of the product, not to mention water pistols filled with ammonia in case of bears, and the old snake bite remedy, an adventurous crew sets off this morning for Princeton.

All Victoria telephone employees who happened to have their holidays at the same time and a common interest in the stock market, they will be spending five days panning for gold on their friend Bill Davidson's property.

Terry Petersen, 1015 Tattersall Drive; Joan Davison, Savory Road; Bea Slater, 2852 Admirals Road; Ruth Robertson, 802 Lawdale Avenue, and Greta Hofmeister, 1157 Hilda Street, will be met by Joan's husband later today at Princeton, and taken to a propitious spot. Then it's down to business.

Terry, Joan, Bea, Ruth and Greta pack picks and pans

Ammonia for Bears

Two of the women, Bea Slater and Terry Petersen, are granies. The Petersen station wagon is being used as a modern pack mule for the prospectors.

"Our husbands think we're crazy!" laughed Mrs. Petersen. "This is the first time we've ever done any panning. Even if we don't find much gold at least there'll be some fish. In fact, we've got to catch fish to eat."

Included in the equipment are two large sleeping tents and general camping equipment.

An original pick used in the 1898 gold rush was lent to Ruth Robertson by a thoughtful relative, just in case the girls strike it rich.

Besides panning and fishing, an expedition into a mine to see diamond drilling is on the agenda, hence the need for hard hats and miners' lamps.

Terry Petersen will be wearing her gold nugget bracelet at all times, "just so we'll know what it looks like when we find it."

Pool Plan Endorsed By Region

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

A $220,000 swimming pool for the Langford-Colwood area approached reality Wednesday when the board of the Capital Region District threw its weight behind the project.

In their third try, regional representatives from Colwood, Langford, Happy Valley, Metchosis and Glen Lake got a majority vote in favor of the 25-meter pool on 18 acres of what is known as the old Colwood race track property.

Opposition to the project has focused on the determination that a project such as the building of a swimming pool was not a function of the regional board — that its purpose was larger in scope than such a local interest.

INDIVIDUAL CASE

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich, Mayor Toome of Victoria and Coun. Frances Elford, of Oak Bay, went along with the swimming pool plan but specified that the project should be considered and judged as an individual case and that a decision in its favor should not be taken as a precedent.

"I think it must be stressed that the financial aspects of this case were not a matter of concern. It was, simply, a matter of the board's functions and whether or not it should act in this case," said Reeve Curtis.

Under terms of the agreement with the board, the region will assume ownership and operation of the pool. Capital cost will be paid by the participating communities along with operating deficit, if any.

Before action is taken there must be a referendum in the unorganized territories.

White

President Top Student

Patrick White, 17-year-old president of Victoria High School's student council, won the school's highest student award Wednesday.

Patrick, son of Mrs. Nina White, 784 Hillside Avenue, was handed the Leader Cup at the close of a two-hour annual awards ceremony.

The cup symbolizes outstanding all-around achievement in academic work, sports and leadership. It is Vic High's "Rhodes Scholarship."

60 AWARDS

Most of the school's 1,350 students were present as more than 60 awards were made.

The W. A. Schroeder sportsmanship award went to Andrew Schroeder, while Alpha Hi-Y trophies for all-around contribution to inter-house sports were won by Jim Vosburgh and Ann Stanbridge.

Esquimalt Party Nanaimo Start Of Walk

If you see three weary sailors trudging south over the Malahat this weekend, don't offer them a lift.

As part of a plan to promote Esquimalt's Bugean Day June 18, the three Canadian naval ratings are striking off from Nanaimo this evening in an attempt to walk the 66 miles to Victoria.

If all goes well, they expect to arrive at Esquimalt Sports Centre Saturday afternoon.

LETTERS

Esquimalt Coun. Roy Elphick said Wednesday night that Eric Tinkling of Montreal, Peter Germain of Aylmer, Ont., and John Gibbs of Toronto will make the walk. Before their departure from In front of Nanaimo city hall, they will present a letter of greeting to the city from Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant.

All three were attached to the navy's VS 880 squadron at Dartmouth, N.S., and are now posted to Pat Bay.

Meanwhile, local entertainment will be a feature of the variety show slated for Esquimalt's Bugean Day Saturday evening in the Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Centre Promoted For Deaf Tots

By BILL STAVDAL

At the age of 6½, Andrew can say one word: "Mama."

Andrew isn't retarded. But almost as bad, he's nearly totally deaf and seriously in need of professional help.

Even though he has seven brothers and sisters there is no communication between Andrew and his family. He isn't even toilet trained yet.

With hearing he would have a vocabulary of about 1,500 words by now, plus a wide range of experience. Without it he has been denied communication, and may be crippled educationally and socially for life.

Andrew's tragedy is that there are no facilities in Victoria which can help him.

40 Need Special Training

That's why the Vancouver Island Society for Hearing-Handicapped Children is trying to raise funds for a training centre here.

Helped in time, a hearing-handicapped child can catch up and stay abreast of his fellows. Without aid, he will likely fall further and further behind.

Andrew is an extreme case. There are about 40 known hard-of-hearing youngsters in Greater Victoria who could be helped by such a training school, the society says.

Its first president is Albert E. Nicholl, an audiologist (hearing expert) recently arrived in Victoria.

Mr. Nicholl says about two per cent of the population suffers from some hearing loss.

"There's no basic difference between a child who needs glasses and one who needs a hearing aid," he says.

But while visual defects are often spotted and remedied early, faulty hearing can go undetected for years.

One Victoria girl had reached the age of five last May when her parents had their suspicions about her poor hearing confirmed.

The result is a smaller vocabulary, a poorer tool to ask the 101 questions that a tot must have answered to grow properly.

Last winter the society chipped in to transport five school-age children to Marigold School where there is a special class for the hard-of-hearing.

This winter they hope to be able to hire a qualified teacher for pre-schoolers.

Many Ropes on Windjammer

No Games, Thanks, Crew Tied Up

The crew of the Japanese merchant marine training ship anchored off Royal Roads is clambering all over the romantic-looking four-masted windjammer—much too busy to play volleyball.

The ship was last in Victoria in June, 1963, when the crew came ashore for entertainment and a baseball game.

But this trip, cadet trainees and crew are busy painting, washing, and coiling rope to make the ship neat for her appearance as special guest Saturday and Sunday at the sea festival in Vancouver.

ROPES ABOARD

There are hundreds of ropes to coil, and each one has its part to play in the sailing of a windjammer.

The crew was challenged to a volleyball game by Victoria High School, but Capt. Inazo Ara said there weren't many on board who knew the game, and besides, there was too much work to do.

NAVY SAID HELLO

The Royal Canadian Navy sent greetings Wednesday morning and took Wren Kiyoko Miyamichi along to say hello to her countrymen. Kiyoko is from Winnipeg and is in Esquimalt for summer training with the navy.

The ship left Kobe, Japan, on May 12 and navigated under sail for 2,987 of the 5,237 miles covered. The rest of the way she was under power. She leaves her Royal Roads anchorage Friday morning.

SEA FESTIVAL

Anyone visiting Vancouver this weekend can see her lead a flotilla of yachts under the Lions Gate Bridge at 3:15 p.m. Saturday, and she will be open to the public during the sea festival.

The name of the ship is Kaio Maru, according to Lloyd's Registry and the U.S. Coast Guard radio register, but on her stern, the letters spell out Kaiwo Maru Tokyo. It means Neptune or King of the Sea, either way, a Victorian of Japanese ancestry said Wednesday.

Highway Plans Started

Plans are being drawn up for the widening of a five-mile stretch of the Patricia Bay Highway, Highway Minister Gagliardi said Wednesday.

Meanwhile, work is nearing completion on the first 2.1-mile widening which was started last fall near the Swartz Bay ferry terminal.

Mr. Gagliardi said tenders on the second section might not be called until next fall.

Apartments Damaged

Firemen had to rip out walls of an apartment building under construction to get at a fire Wednesday afternoon.

The fire caused an unknown amount of damage to six suites on three floors at Beacon Arms Apartment, Heywood and Rupert, which is due to open in August.

Much of the wiring will have to be relaid, a spokesman said. Cause of the fire is not known.

Gorge Can Prepare Victory Celebrations

They can start planning the ceremonies at the Gorge Vale Golf Club right now. The Willie Park driver is about to return after being on display at Uplands for the past three years.

Although beaten at Uplands last night, the Gorge team left Uplands dornie in the Inter-club competition by holding the margin to 4-5. The result left Gorge ahead by eight points.

with only one match left, and overcoming that means that Uplands will have to score a nine-point sweep next Wednesday at Colwood while Victoria holds Gorge to no more than one point.

Without Art Donaldson but with Al MacLeod and Laurie Carroll again steady, Gorge held Uplands to a margin which didn't make much difference. MacLeod defeated Bob Hunt, 3 and 2, and was a big factor in the four-ball win although partner Dave Panthorpe was beaten by Eric Hibberton, 2 and 1. And with Uplands leading, 3 1/2-2 1/2.

after the first two matches, Carroll kept the margin there in the last match.

He defeated Don Billsborough, 2 up, and teamed with George Murphy, who lost to Eric Wright, 4 and 3, to gain a half-point in the four-ball.

In last night's other tussle, Colwood almost caught third-place Victoria by scoring a 6-3 win on the Oak Bay links.

Features of this engagement were the three-under-par 67 turned in by Victoria's Doug Munro in a 6 and 5 win over Bill Court and a fine rally by Colwood's Vic Painter, who overcame a three-hole deficit to take Paul Trapp, 2 and 1.

Scores:

COLWOOD 8 AT VICTORIA 3

Golf's Big Meet Worth Pictures In Istanbul Paper

By JIM MURRAY

SAN FRANCISCO — The Open again. Not "The Open." The Open. The heavyweight championship of golf. The Kentucky Derby of outdoor pool.

And golfer worth his sand iron would trade you five Memphis Opens for this one. The going rate is 10 Cajun classics for one National Open. This isn't the Muscatel Open, or the Greater West Orange Open or the Mortgage City Open.

Sam Snead won eight Greater Greensboro Opens. And got his picture in the papers clear to Winston — Salem. He'd trade then all for this one. You get your pictures in the Istanbul papers if you win this one.

You don't get in because

Snead One of Many on 'Outside'

There are some areas of the fairway barely wide enough for a golf ball. "Well, they're not hitting basketballs now, are they?" ask crusty old-timers like Riviera's Willie Hunter.

An "unknown" wins this every 20 years or so. Repeat winners make the honor roll of golf — Willie Anderson (4), Walter Hagen (2), Gene Sarazen (2), Ben Hogan and Bobby Jones (4), Ralph Guldahl, Alex Smith, Julius Boros and Cary Middlecott (2). It takes a considerable player to win it more than once. In fact, it takes a considerable player to win it once.

ACCURACY COUNTS

An Open course rewards accuracy, not strength. You don't cut diamonds with a slide hammer, you don't take teeth out with ice tongs.

And you don't take an Open by kicking the door in. Crash your woods here, and the woods will crash back—40,000 trees worth. Hit a ball too far off line, and you better bring a tent. Greens are so slick Sonja Henie would fall down.

The rough won't be as high as 11 years ago here. The neighbors complained it was cutting off their view. So did some airline pilots. "Porky" Oliver lost a ball here, got a free drop—and then lost that one. Some golfers lost balls in the rough, others lost caddies. One committeeman wanted to know if a player had a preference in caddies. "Yeah," he told them, "Clyde Beatty."

QUITE ROUGH

"If I hear anything roar in these," Snead announced, pointing to the rough, "I'm not going in without a whip and a chair." It's not the money that makes The Open. It was a $10,000 tournament until 1950. The winner got $1,500 as recently as 1946. You can get that now at some tournaments just showing up. You come to The Open for a reputation, not a bankroll. If you need money, don't play The Open, play the market. Gary Player gave away his purse last year. It was secondary.

Sales Higher Since Merger

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos have announced that a brisk increase in sales since last week's pro football merger has pushed season ticket purchases to date past the 19,000 mark.

The Broncos have sold 19,028 season passes and are well on their way toward last year's 24,000 total — third best in the American Football League.

Victoria Youth Gets Honored

EUGENE, Ore. — Victoria's Monty Holding has been chosen as the most valuable swimmer of 1965-66 and swimming team captain for 1966-67 at the University of Oregon.

A junior education major, Holding was the high point man on the U of O team and is co-holder of the school record for the 200-yard butterfly at 2:03.9. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Holding, live at 1938 Kings.

Fans Asked For More, And Got It

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Baseball games may be too long for some fans but there are others prepared to sit through the night.

It happened here Tuesday night when Miami and St. Petersburg of the Florida State League became hooked up in what was to be the longest game in professional baseball history.

After the two teams had struggled through 27 innings, opposing managers agreed that if the game wasn't settled after 30 innings they would settle for the tie. About one-quarter of the 710 fans were still in the park, and they boomed the announcement: "hearty with cries of 'we want more.'"

A sacrifice fly finally won it for Miami in the 29th inning — six hours and 53 minutes after the game had started.

O.C. Cricket

LONDON (Reuters) — Close of play scores in Wednesday's cricket matches: Essex 137 for 8, Kent 122 for 2, Surrey 202, Cambridge University 27.

Warwickshire 131, Lancashire 54 for 3, Nottinghamshire 159 for 7, Devon 107 for 4.

Oxford University 102, Northamptonshire 131 for 8, Yorkshire 82 for 1.

Leicestershire 54 for 1, Middlesex 133 for 7 and secondly 87 for 3, Glamorgan 99. (Match abandoned as rain fell.)

Essex beat Cambridge University by 138 runs. Essex 284 and 239 for 7 wickets. Cambridge 127 and 307.

Warwickshire beat Nottinghamshire by 215 runs. Warwickshire 227 for 4 and secondly 228 for 4 declared. Nottinghamshire 132 and 89 for 3. (Match drawn.)

Leicestershire beat Oxford University by seven wickets. Oxford University 254 and 204. Leicestershire 280 and 95 for 3.

Warwickshire 227 for 4 and 107 for 5 declared. Gloucestershire 214 for 7 and 152 for 7. (Match drawn.)

Betless Race Has a Sequel

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) —

Louie Bandel was removed as chairman of the Florida State racing commission Wednesday as a sequel to Hialeah Park's Betless Flamingo last March.

Other commissioners voted 4-0 to turn him out and put Robert C. Lechner, 54-year-old Jacksonville lumber dealer, into the chairmanship.

Bandel, who abstained in the voting, warned the commission that the action was illegal and subject to challenge.

NOT CONSULTED

Lechner said the commissioners resented not being consulted on major decisions, especially the one that allowed Hialeah Park to stage its $100,000 Flamingo as a betless exhibition.

The Betless Flamingo took place on March 3 and brought down the wrath of horse players and sports writers around the country.

There were nine horses in the race with two entries. But one of the entries was the great pair of three-year-olds, Buckpasser and Stupendous.

POPULAR ENTRY

Hialeah Park figured the entry would be so popular that it stood a good chance of losing money if there was a lot of betting and the pair came through as expected. The track is required to return at least 20 cents on every dollar's worth of winning bets.

Hialeah management asked for permission to stage the race, one of the biggest of the winter racing season, as a betless exhibition.

Lechner said Bandel gave permission without consulting other members of the commission.

The Flamingo turned out to be quite a horse race, with Buckpasser winning by only a nose over fast-closing Abe's Hope. Stupendous finished out of the money.

34 Entered In Navy Golf

A total of 34 entries have been received for the navy golf association's monthly medal competition today at Gorge Vale.

Starting times:

Beverly's Mad Journey

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. — Mrs. Beverly Kelly, 38, wife of a professor at Detroit University, disappeared from her San Francisco home and turned up in Bangkok. She left a Hong Kong boarding house one morning and next day turned up on the Chinese Communist mainland, in the company of a younger man. The Chinese returned her, saying she obviously crossed the border by mistake.

But Hong Kong authorities said such a mistake is impossible, and U.S. immigration officials seized her passport in Hawaii. She was spirited away from newsmen by Travellers Aid volunteers, in a wild Keystone Kops chase through San Francisco airport. In an 11-1 vote, a superior court jury has put an end to Mrs. Kelly's travels. She was declared insane.

SUNDERLAND, England — Beatles fan Carol Dryden, 12, likes the singers so much, she decided to send them a gift. She got a big box, marked it Present for the Beatles, had a friend pay $9 freight charges for the 280-mile rail journey to London. But 10 minutes after the trip started, a porter opened the box and prevented a tragedy. The girl had forgotten to drill air-holes in the box. Inside, hot and cramped, was Carol.

NEW YORK — Former state Republican chairman L. Judson Morhouse, described as a "peddler of political influence," who accepted thousands of dollars in graft, was sentenced to two to three years in prison. The 52-year-old one-time political strategist for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was convicted of bribery to get a liquor licence for the Manhattan Playboy Club.

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Veteran flyer Fran Bera may have set a world altitude record. Flight instruments indicate he may have climbed above the 35,000-foot mark in a specially equipped twin-engine Piper Aztec. However, official results of the flight will not be known until the aircraft's recording devices have been examined by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in Paris. The record now is 39,334 feet.

LONDON — Bill Benson, Canadian aviation engineer and test pilot, says he has sold part of the patent rights to his invention for reducing jet noise to a group of British companies whose names are to be disclosed later.

LONDON — Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier has flown to Ottawa to sound out Prime Minister Pearson about holding the September Commonwealth prime ministers conference in Ottawa.

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McNamara announced all U.S. military planes and about $75,000 tons of war stocks will be pulled out of France. McNamara disclosed the first major shift of U.S. military men, dependents and supplies from France to Britain, Germany and elsewhere in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in the wake of French President De Gaulle's "get out" order.

OTTAWA — The Supreme Court of Canada rejected an appeal by the Quebec justice department and upheld a lower court decision ordering a new perjury trial for Mr. Justice Adrien Messier of Quebec Superior Court. Mr. Justice Messier, former Liberal MP for Montreal Papineau, was convicted in October, 1964, on three counts of perjury and sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

CHAMONIX, France — Astronaut John Glenn was suspended in space with his wife and daughter. They took a ride on the cable car running from this French alpine town up to the Aiguille Du Midi Peak — one of the highest cable cars in Europe.

LONDON — Britain's Disarmament Minister Lord Chalfont will visit Ottawa June 21-22 for talks with the Canadian government on disarmament. He will meet with Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin.

VANCOUVER — Vladimir Stankevich, 42, was remanded until June 22, when he appeared in magistrates court charged with two counts of attempted non-capital murder. The charges were laid after Debbie Tama, 4, was held hostage at knifepoint for two hours May 27 while thousands of spectators and dozens of police officers watched.

KELOWNA (CP) — A $1,000 Christmas Seal grant has been awarded to the Kelowna Health Centre for installation of a chest X-ray machine.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Former president Eisenhower endorsed Ronald Reagan for governor of California and said Reagan would inevitably be considered a contender for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination if he should defeat Gov. Edmund G. Brown this fall.

MONTREAL — Andre Daoust, 35, who figured in the Quebec Provincial Police's first 10-man wanted men list last year, escaped from custody Wednesday while in a hospital for treatment. Daoust was awaiting trial on two charges of armed robbery, conspiracy and possession of offensive weapons.

'I'd Have Lots of Slaves'

By TED PULFORD

What would you do if you had a million dollars? This question, posed as a routine assignment by a busy elementary school teacher to her second graders, brought back answers from the seven and eight-year-olds that charmed the whole school staff.

"If I had a million dollars," said Lynn, "I'd go in an airplane to Hawaii and I'd look out the window all the way."

"If I took too long, I'll get sick, so then I'd go home and tie on the 20 mattresses that I bought and that's the end of my million."

"If I had a million dollars," wrote little Kim pensively, "I'd buy a mink stole and rap it in golden paper and give it to my Mom. Then I'd go to Clinton, Ontario, where I was born. That's what I'd do."

A tiny Chinese-Canadian moppet had her loyalties

Million-Dollar Dreams Related by Children carefully divided. "I would go to England to see the Queen and I would stay there five days."

"Then I would go to Hong Kong to see my aunt and my cousin. I would stay THERE for a whole week."

Parents, too, could learn something of how the young feel about them. Young Dale had his inheritance worked out this way: "I would give my mother $17,000 and I'd take a vacation and then I would give my dad $1,900."

"I would hire some men to build me a lovely swimming pool."

"Then, of course, I would go out and buy a bathing suit." When Billy got his money safely home there was to be no nonsense. "I would have a beautiful mansion," he vowed, "and I would have lots of butlers for slaves."

"I'd call it the million dollar home and I'd be a millionaire and I would have a spectacular time. I would take a trip in my private plane to France and I'd do just oodles of things!"

Many of the children hoped to do a little welfare work or give cash away. Said Heather: "With a million dollars I would buy a hamster with a red nose — I suppose — and I'd buy a dishwasher and a big box of diamonds and give $20 to the poor."

"I would go to Pender Island and France."

Janke would buy a Tally-Ho for the entertainment of her friends. Lori would put all in the bank for Christmas, and Robbie was going to be a farmer.

"I would go to Scotland," he said, "and get some new bag pipes, 19 sheep, nine goats, 25 rabbits, 18 hamsters, 20 cars and a big rifle and a pistol."

Lawyers Convention

Sniffing Law Will Be Debated

KELOWNA (CP)—British Columbia lawyers meet here today and Friday to discuss such contentious issues as impaired driving arrests, wiretapping and divorce laws.

Nearly 200 delegates were expected to attend the sessions of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Bar Association and Law Society of B.C. LAWYERS REVIEWED

The lawyers will review the laws of B.C. and Canada, and make recommendations for new laws or amendments to old ones.

Debate is expected on new B.C. legislation requiring surrender of a driver's licence on suspicion of impaired driving, compensation for victims of criminal action and the Bill of Rights.

The delegates are expected to renew demands for creation of an ombudsman to deal with individual's grievances with the government and reform in divorce laws.

George J. Arches, former Vancouver police chief, will participate in a panel discussion entitled: "Curb Justice—To Sniff Or Not To Sniff." The other speakers will be W. O. Forbes and Nick Mussallem, both Vancouver lawyers.

HONORER HONORED
Attorney-General Bonner will be honored by the law society at a luncheon Friday.

Donald J. Lawson of Victoria completes his two-year term as vice-president for B.C. of the National Bar Association at the meeting.

Alert Ham Aids Police

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—Chuck Hoover, a ham operator, was driving near the scene of a liquor store robbery when he heard police radio for help in catching the fleeing suspect.

Hoover saw a man run across the street and hide. He radioed to his mother and she relayed the information to police, who quickly found the hiding place and arrested the suspect.

Puerto Rican Area

Police Fear Mobs

CHICAGO (AP)—Police carried their cluster-busting strategy into a second night Wednesday night in efforts to maintain peace in riot-torn Puerto Rican district.

Whenever groups of residents gathered on sidewalks, police moved quickly to disperse them, hoping to keep large mobs from taking shape.

Tuesday night, mostly for rock-throwing. That was minor compared with rioting Sunday and Monday nights in which eight Puerto Ricans were shot and wounded and scores were injured by flying stones and other missiles.

Saloon keepers in the area were asked to co-operate by keeping their bars closed until further notice.

Cripple Claims Estate Frozen

EDMONTON (CP)—A 66-year-old Calgary widow in a wheelchair began a crusade Wednesday against the Alberta Council for Crippled Children and Adults.

The other aide read: "They have a caveat on my estate." The caveat prohibits Mrs. Rambo from disposing of the property.

Mrs. Rambo said the caveat has been on her estate, a farm at Munson 12 miles northeast of Drumheller, since 1962. She said she is too old to work the farm.

Fiedler Leading Concert Tour
BOSTON (AP)—Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra, will conduct the Yousufi Nippon Symphony Orchestra on a North American tour next year, it was announced Tuesday.

The tour will take the orchestra to a number of American and Canadian cities, beginning October, 1967.

Phonies Booked

DALLAS (UPI)—A new Who's Who is coming out but publisher Tony J. Altred said Tuesday not many persons would want their names listed.

Altred is president of Commercial Check Clearance Corp. His book will have more than 100,000 names used by writers of worthless checks.

Price of Support

$2 Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal government should immediately announce a guaranteed wheat price of $2 a bushel in order to regain its lost support in the Prairie provinces, Senator Hazen Argue said Wednesday.

Senator Argue (L-Saskatchewan) told the upper chamber the government is in a minority situation today because "it did not really get any support in the western provinces in the last election."

No Blanket Restriction

Gas Flow Continues

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)—The U.S. Federal Power Commission rejected Wednesday calls for blanket restrictions on imports of Canadian natural gas.

Individual applications will continue to be considered for their impact "on the domestic industry and on the exploration and development which may be needed to develop future (U.S.) gas supplies," said a ruling by Commissioner Charles E. Ross, which was adopted unanimously.

APPROVED

The commission approved an application by Pacific Gas Transmission Co. of San Francisco to import eventually an additional 200,000,000 cubic feet daily from Alberta, half that amount beginning Nov. 1 and the full amount a year later.

Pacific had been given authority in 1960 to import up to 451,000,000 cubic feet daily from Alberta.

Both decisions Wednesday confirmed suggestions made in February by Commission Examiner Harry Frazee.

The proposals for import restrictions came from the Independent Petroleum Association of America, the State of Texas, the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, and a group of California gas producers.

Speaking solely of the Pacific Gas application, Commissioner Ross said the "benefits to be derived . . . far exceed any alleged detriment to the domestic petroleum industry or its exploration and development program."

FACILITIES LACKING
California could use all the gas available from its own producers in any case, and facilities for tapping out-of-state sources would be lacking for some time.

As for suggestions Canadian gas supplies may be unreliable, Ross said, "We think the close relationship between the United States and Canada renders it unlikely that this sort of difficulty will arise."

Virginia

Negroes Elected In Cities

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Negroes won election to city councils at Richmond, Petersburg and Fredericksburg Tuesday in the first elections following removal of Virginia's $1.50 poll tax.

But in other municipal elections in the state, Negro candidates met with less success.

Among the winners in Richmond was Henry L. Marsh III, an attorney who has been involved in most of the major civil rights suits filed in Virginia. Marsh will join incumbent B. Addison Cephas and Winfred Mundle as the only Negroes on the nine-member council.

Negroes lost out in municipal elections at Portsmouth and Norfolk.

Kennedy:

'Curb Arms Race'

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday called on African nations to help force an end to the East-West nuclear arms race.

The New York Democrat, in a major speech on the last stop of a four-country African tour, appealed to the African states to make an all-out effort to halt the spread of nuclear arms.

Kennedy's speech in the African unity hall here was interrupted by a power failure but the senator was applauded by his audience when he continued to speak by the light of a portable television camera unit.

The address followed Kennedy's meeting with Emperor Haile Selassie and a ceremony in which the former attorney general laid the cornerstone of a John F. Kennedy memorial library.

Space Litter Increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eight years after Sputnik I, space is littered with garbage. But the traffic problem isn't considered dangerous yet.

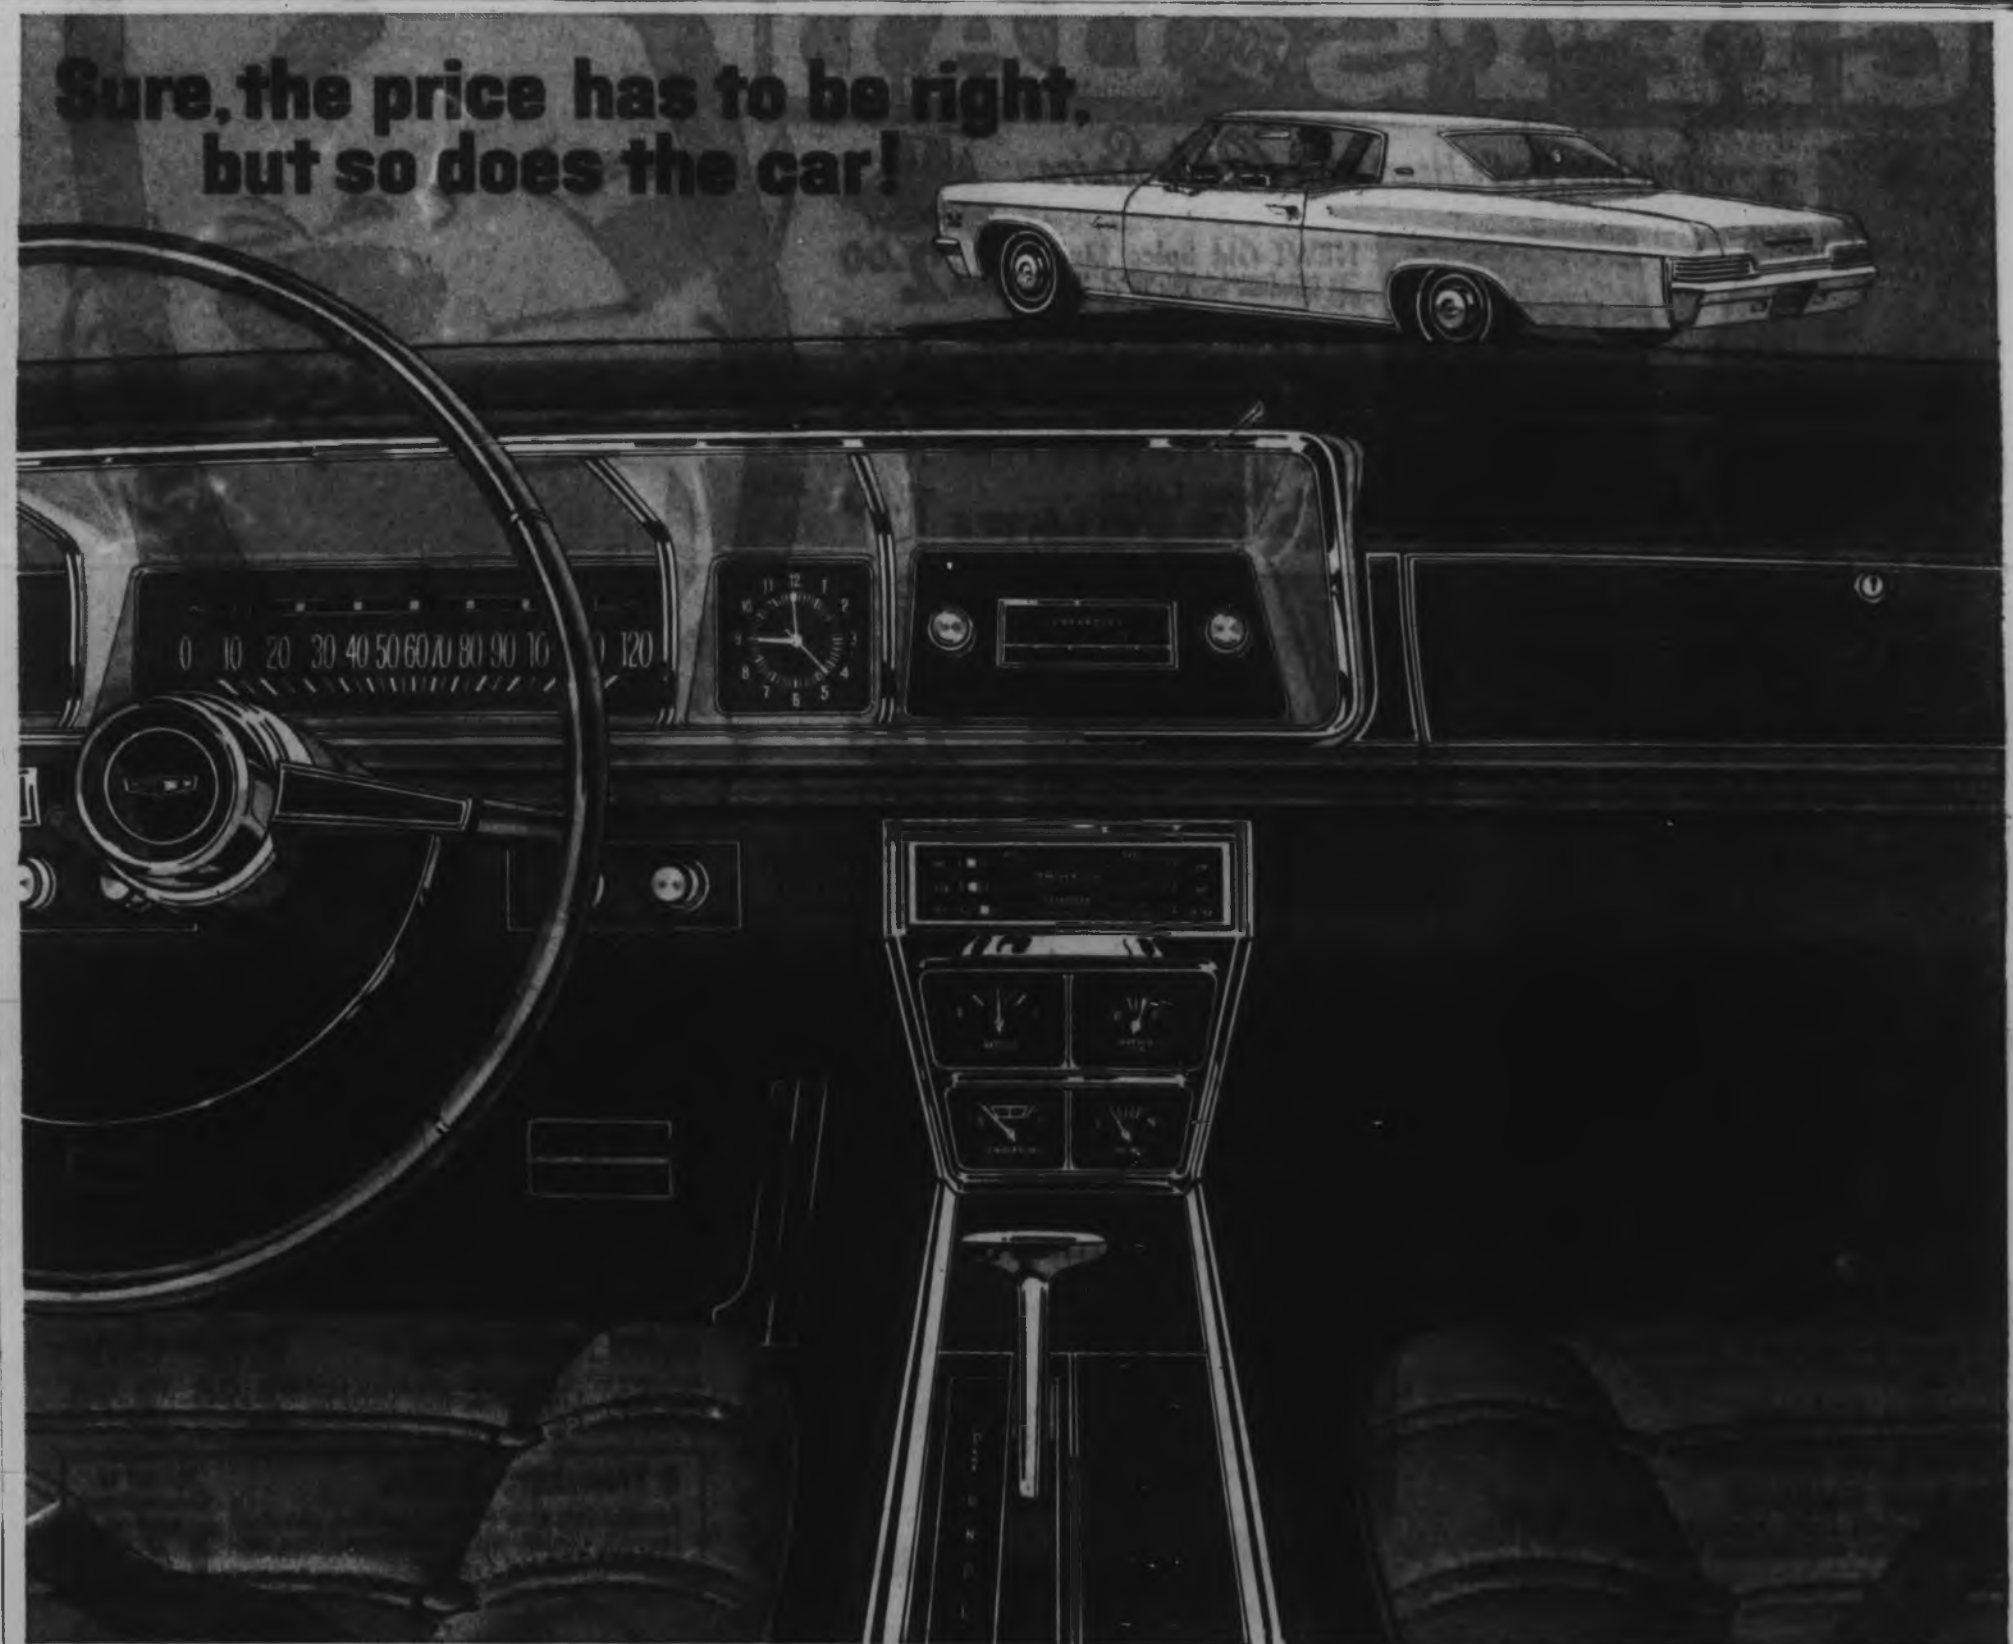

More than 1,800 objects have been placed in orbit, Lt. Gen. James Ferguson told house appropriations committee members. That includes not only the satellites hoisted by the United States and Russia, but also spent boosters and what Ferguson called "debris" left over from space shots.

"Is there really a garbage problem up there at this stage of the game?" asked Rep. Daniel J. Flood (Dem., Pa.).

"Not in the sense of danger of a collision," replied Ferguson, air force deputy chief of staff for research and development, "but in keeping track of what is up there."

Chevrolet does ride Jet-smoother. Take it onto the highway. Feel the surge of Chevrolet power (155 hp with standard Six and 195 hp with standard V8 model). Take her 'round a sharp curve. Chevrolet sits firm and steady. OK, you've proved it—Chevrolet is the right car! Now, go back and talk deal. It'll be great, because this is The Hottest Year

Industry Aids Engineer Hunt

VANCOUVER (CP) — Major industries in British Columbia are teaming with educationalists to overcome one of the province's most pressing problems—a critical shortage of engineers trained in modern techniques.

A committee, comprising members of the University of B.C. faculty, engineers' societies and representatives of large corporations, has been formed to plan the continuing education of engineers.

AS ROUTINE

"This sort of thing is absolutely essential," said Professor Les Crouch, president of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.

"The kids at university today are studying as routine things nobody ever heard of 10 years ago. There are so many new concepts and new techniques, an engineer can't keep up with them by himself."

Because of the scarcity of engineering graduates, companies are paying to re-educate their present staff.

G. F. Macfarlane, chief engineer at B.C. Telephone Co., said only 45 electrical engineers graduated from the University of B.C. this year.

WENT LOOKING

"We went looking for at least a dozen of them," he said. "So, did a lot of other companies."

B.C. Tel., along with the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority and several other firms, are represented on the new committee. "We hope to have some classes rolling by September," said Prof. Crouch. "Furthermore, we, along with other provincial engineers' associations, are trying to influence more young people to study engineering."

NEW FIELDS

He said a variety of new vocations have sprung up within the last decade and sciences such as chemistry and physics have wooed many bright young men.

However, first-year registration in engineering at UBC has increased 10 per cent for each of the last two years after remaining static or declining for the seven years previous.

"With the re-education program going, and, hopefully, the registration continuing to increase, there may some day be no shortage of engineers," he said.

Mr. Macfarlane said he doubts there will ever be enough engineers to go around.

ENCOURAGING MOVE

"But one encouraging development is the opening of technological institutes," he said. "Many engineers today are being used as technicians, or just glorified draftsmen. Graduates of technological institutes can do this work, sometimes better than engineers, and leave the engineers free for engineering."

Prof. Crouch said no effort has been made yet to acquire government financing of any of the re-education program costs.

Piping Hot Cheese Bread

(Makes 8 to 12 Servings)

1 large French loaf. Soft Butter.
3 cups (¾ pound) shredded Canadian cheddar cheese.
¾ cup mayonnaise.
1 teaspoon prepared mustard.
2 tablespoons finely-chopped green onions.
Few grains nutmeg.

Preheat oven to 375°F. Slash bread into thick slices, almost through to the bottom crust. Spread cut surfaces with soft butter. Combine cheese, mayonnaise, mustard, onions and nutmeg. Spread on cut surfaces of bread. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven until heated through—25 to 30 minutes.

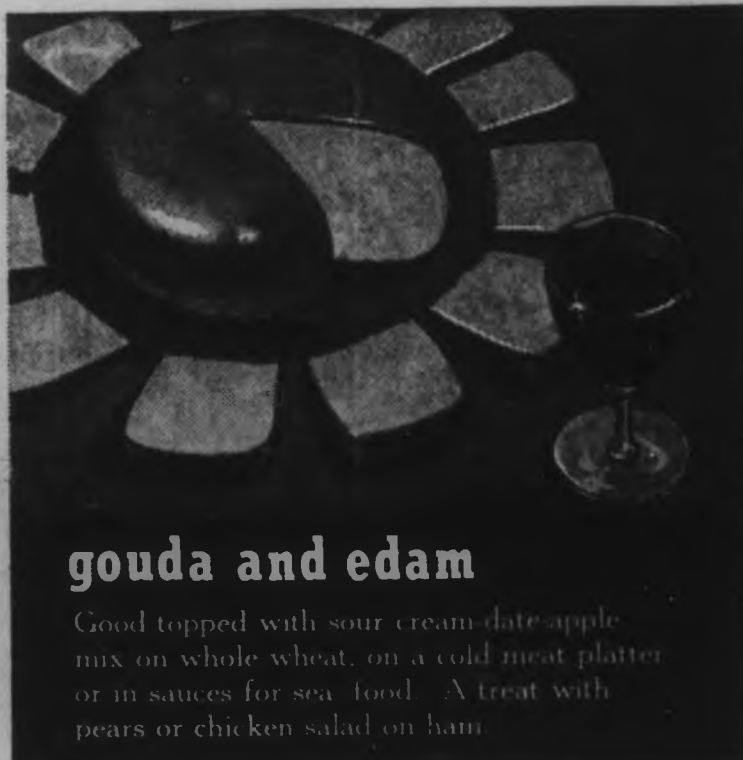

Apple Crisp Squares

(Makes 10 to 12 Servings)

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour. ¼ teaspoon baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt. ½ cup chilled shortening.
¾ cup shredded Canadian cheddar cheese.
½ cup in ½ cup cold water.
¾ cup all-purpose flour.
½ cup lightly-packed brown sugar.
½ cup chilled butter.

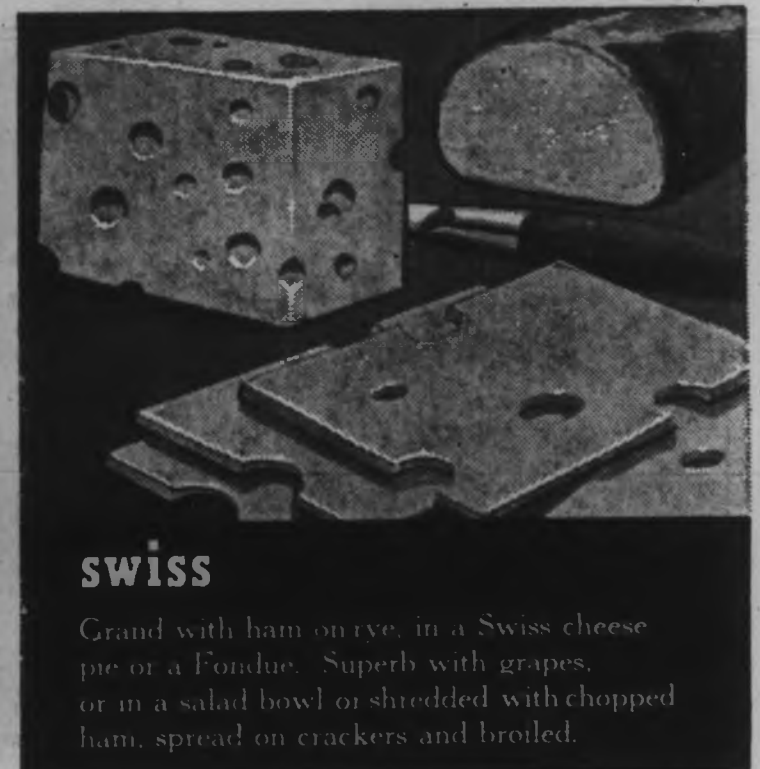

7 medium apples.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
½ cup granulated sugar.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

Put together into a bowl the ¾ cup flour, baking powder and salt. Cut shortening in flaky. Add cheese and combine lightly. Sprinkle with water a tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with a fork until mixture clings together but is not sticky. Chill well. Preheat oven to 425°F. Roll out pastry to 2½ x 8½-inch jelly-roll pan. Core apples, but do not peel, slice into ½-inch thick wedges and arrange in rows on dough. Sprinkle lemon juice, combine granulated sugar and apples and sprinkle over apples. Combine the ¾ cup flour and brown sugar, cut butter in finely. Sprinkle over apples. Bake in preheated oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cut into squares and serve warm.

Cheese Chili
(Makes 8 Servings)

1/4 cup butter, 2 onions, thinly sliced, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1 pound minced lean beef, 2 (15-ounce) cans red kidney beans, 1 (28-ounce) can tomatoes, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 3-4 teaspoons chili powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups shredded Canadian processed cheese.

Melt butter in heavy frying pan. Add onions and green pepper and fry gently until just tender; remove from pan. Brown meat in remaining fat in pan. Drain and rinse kidney beans; add to meat mixture along with onion, green pepper, tomatoes, Worcestershire sauce, chili powder and salt. Simmer uncovered, stirring occasionally about one hour. Add cheese and stir until melted. Serve immediately.

Preheat oven to 375° F. Sprinkle cheese and bacon in prepared pastry shell. Beat egg slightly; beat in salt, cayenne and mustard. Gradually stir in cream. Pour over cheese and bacon in pastry shell. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 60 minutes or until set—a knife inserted in centre should come out clean. Serve hot.

Handicapped Helped

'It Makes You Feel Real Good'

training. Instructor, devoted his talents and spare time, to teaching retarded and physically handicapped children to swim.

About 75 children from Victoria area centres are the lucky recipients of the navy's gesture.

"It's gratifying to see the enthusiastic response and genuine interest shown on the part of the kids," Mr. Storrier says.

"It certainly requires a different approach than my regular job, but it's the type of teaching that makes a person feel real good."

He trains them to Red Cross "learner status."

The one-hour periods consist of 40 minutes of lesson and 20 minutes of just fun and splashing.

"It's a happy way of combining fun and entertainment," he explains.

IWA Strikes Logging Camp

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 150 members of the International Woodworkers of America went on strike Wednesday at a Canadian Forest Products Ltd. logging camp at Harrison Mills in the Fraser Valley.

The move followed expiration of the IWA's master contract with 120 coast lumber companies at 12:10 a.m. Wednesday.

PLEDGE

Jack Moore, IWA Regional president, said he was not notified in advance of the Harrison Mills strike.

The IWA president had pledged earlier this week that no strike action would be taken immediately upon expiration of the contract, although the union previously had served 48-hour strike notice on the employers.

He said he "doubted the strike would spread to other locals."

Mr. Moore said he understood the strike at Harrison Mills was precipitated by a dispute between the local and CFP that has been raging off and on for seven years.

"I guess this was the first time they could go on strike legally," he said.

In a new master agreement, the union seeks a wage boost of 50 cents an hour on the basic rate of $2.36, plus extended fringe benefits.

Mr. Justice Nathan Nemeth of the B.C. Supreme Court, appointed as an industrial inquiry commissioner to investigate the dispute, is writing a report on possible settlement.

Though his findings will not be binding, the union has agreed not to strike before his recommendations are made known.

Blaze Set To See Trucks?

Children like to see fire trucks but Langford Volunteer Fire Department Chief Al LeQuenne is fed up with it.

Wednesday evening he and his team had to pile out just about supertime to fight a grass fire on Glen Lake Road in a field next to Glen Lake School.

"It was set by kids. We know that for sure," said the chief.

"We've been fighting fires there for several years now. I think the kids set them on purpose just to see the fire trucks roll up."

He indicated a formal complaint is being laid with the fire marshal's office.

Longshoremen Face Hearing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ten officials of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union surrendered to a sheriff at the Vancouver courthouse Wednesday.

The men appeared before Mr. Justice D. R. Verchere later and were each released on their own recognizance pending hearing of contempt of court charges.

Mr. Justice Verchere ordered the men arrested Tuesday. The men, heads of the union and work on the B.C. waterfront various B.C. locals, failed to appear in court as ordered.

Wednesday they walked en masse into the courthouse and voluntarily surrendered.

The action arose from alleged disobedience of a B.C. Supreme Court injunction instructing the officials to countermand any instructions they had given ordering a work stoppage on Victoria Day.

Though the union received copies of the injunction before the May 23 holiday, hundreds of longshoremen reported "sick" and work on the B.C. waterfront was snarled for 24 hours.

Labor Separatism Feared by Canadian Congress

OTTAWA (CP)—Breaking up the Canadian Labor Congress said in a statement Wednesday. CLC officers held a closed session with a cabinet committee to argue against a proposal by the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions for regional rather than national bargaining units.

The Canadian Labor Congress said in a statement Wednesday. CLC officers held a closed session with a cabinet committee to argue against a proposal by the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions for regional rather than national bargaining units.

The CNTU wants to take Quebec workers out of railways, airlines and other national bargaining units. But the Canada Labor Relations Board has ruled against the proposal.

In its statement the CLC said the CNTU's main reason for seeking certification of unions on a regional basis is simply "that the employees they seek to represent speak the same language and share the same culture."

"What the CNTU is suggesting is that a distinction in language or culture is so important that it should produce a cleavage among workers who otherwise share the same occupations, work in the same industry and are citizens of the same country."

While the issue now is confined to Quebec, it could spill over into New Brunswick, Ontario and elsewhere where many workers "share the French - language as their mother tongue and the French culture as their national heritage."

The CLC statement referred to recent government figures which show that the CLC represents 1,181,147 workers compared to the CNTU's 150,063.

"In Quebec there were more than twice as many union members outside the CNTU as in it and most of them were affiliated to the CLC," the statement said.

Blind Poetess

By JULIE CLARK

Poetess, writer and radio interviewer Mary Edwards Haws is an extremely talented and energetic woman. She is also totally blind and has been so since the age of two when a case of measles deprived her of sight.

"All I can remember is being carried into my parents' sunny kitchen and seeing fluffy curtains."

But in spite of this meagre visual experience Mrs. Haws has created a colored, vibrant expression of life, not only for herself, but for the many who find pleasure in her writings.

Making her first visit to the West Coast from her Toronto home Mrs. Haws was visiting Victoria, yesterday and today, with her niece, Mrs. Gordon Henderson of New Westminster.

"A Handful of Hours," her extremely successful book of poems, was published in 1961 and has now been sold out.

Mrs. Haws is now working on a book of poetry and prose and hopes eventually to complete a novel.

"There's only one poem in my book concerned with sight. In it I describe the things I would like most to see. Mainly the things you can't touch, like reflections, the stars and moonlight. And faces, because you can't feel expressions with your fingers."

"Colors are not difficult for me as I can associate them with sensations. I love blue because I think of swimming in cool water. Red is warm like the sun, and green smells fresh like new-cut grass."

She went on to say that it is only recently that she has discovered perspective.

"You don't feel in profile. How can you touch an angle?"

Mrs. Haws was confronted with this problem at a pottery class which she attends in Toronto. Through sculpturing she has come to visualize perspective.

A great deal of her poetry is written for children. Her book also contains reflections on the weather and places.

"I love the weather. I can feel it, especially the wind. In this we are equal, the seeing and the blind."

Although she writes her poetry in Braille, she finds a tape recorder and ordinary typewriter more convenient for longer prose work. Mrs. Haws worked for 12 years as a dictaphone-typist at the CNIB in Toronto.

In 1962, Mary Haws and her husband Roy, who is also blind, were interviewed on CBC. Following that, Mrs. Haws has done several series for CBC herself. One was a series of 13 short talks with successful blind people.

"At first I found this difficult because being blind myself I didn't ask the more obvious questions. I'm now planning another series on art appreciation through the senses."

She has been interviewed on a number of occasions on Canadian television.

Enthralled with her visit to the Coast she would like to prolong her stay, but knows she must get back to work.

"You have to meet people and have experiences to write about. I'm sure I'll be full of inspiration when I get back."

Groom Wears Heirloom Ring

St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church was the scene of the marriage of Laurene Ellen Matthews and Wallace Hugh McKay.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Frank Matthews, Bay Street and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McKay, Burnside. Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated at the double ring ceremony. The groom's ring belonged to his grandmother. Decorating the altar were white gladioli and anemones.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of white peau de sautoir, styled with bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves. The empire waistline opened to a controlled skirt and a flowing train. A coronet of rhinestones and pearl droplets held a hand-rolled veil of silk illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with white roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. Shergold and bridesmaids, Miss Jacqueline Morrison and Miss Sandra Comrie, were dressed in floor-length gowns of shocking pink peau de sautoir, trimmed with heavy white lace. They carried long stemmed white roses. Little Jennifer Ashton was flower girl in a similar outfit and she carried a basket of white roses. The attendants wore a pearl pin, the gift of the bride.

Mr. John McKay was best man for his brother and Mr. Raymond Shergold and Mr. Les Atchison ushered guests.

Pink rosebuds decorated the Petty Officers' Mess at Esquimalt for the reception. Mr. Roy Comrie proposed the bridal toast.

Leaving on a honeymoon to the interior of B.C. and Washington and Oregon, the new Mrs. McKay wore a white and turquoise dress with matching sailor hat and white rose corsage completed her outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay will make their home at 3023 Fifth Street, Victoria.

C.A.R.S. Party For Patients

A tea was held at the George Gardiner Hall, Oak Bay United Church on Saturday, June 11, by the Women's Auxiliary to C.A.R.S. More than 140 arthritic patients and their friends attended. They were greeted by the president, Mrs. A. J. Bowring.

Volunteer aides from the clinic served the refreshments, and presented each patient with a rose and gift. Through the generosity of volunteer drivers, the patients were supplied with transportation to and from the party.

Highlight was entertainment by comedienne, Irene Henderson with her folk songs and popular ballads.

A comment by one of the patients seemed to express the appreciation felt by all when she said, "The great kindness and effort so freely given, helps us to remember the world is still round."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a working man and has always made a modest salary. We have managed to raise and educate our four children by following my mother's rule: "Eat it all. Wear it out. Sew it up. Do without."

Now that the children are on their own, things could be a lot easier financially, except for one thing. My husband goes on a drinking spree every two or three weeks and places long distance telephone calls to friends all over North America. He calls people he hasn't seen in years. Like his old Marine buddies. I can tell by the end of the conversation that some of these people don't even remember him.

Furthermore, I can't get it through his head about the different time zones. We live in Santa Barbara. Last night he called a buddy in Buffalo at 11 p.m. and wondered why he didn't get a big hello. He got mad and yelled, "How do you like that jerk — asleep at 11 o'clock?"

I tried to explain that while it is 11 o'clock in California it is 2 a.m. in New York. He said I was crazy.

It burns me up that I have to hunt for bargains to save a few pennies or scrounge goods while my husband squanders hundreds of dollars on drunken nonsense the next day. Please tell me what to do.—VERY ANNOYED

Dear Very: Ask around and determine if any of your local friends have husbands who are similarly afflicted. The boys could form a group known as Telephone Drunks Anonymous. When they get stiff they can call each other up and talk their heads off. This would be a heckuva lot cheaper than calling Buffalo.

If you can't turn up anyone, try waving last month's phone bill before his bloodshot eyes when he begins to go off the deep end. It might help — depending on how smashed he is.

Dear Ann Landers: I had an appointment with my doctor today and something happened that upset me terribly.

When the nurse left the room I picked up the doctor's chart. I had read only a few sentences when the nurse rushed back in the room, snatched the chart from my hands and shouted, "You are NOT supposed to see this."

I said, "Why not? It's about ME, isn't it? The nurse did not answer. She went to the doctor and told him that I had begun to read the chart and had gotten angry when she took it away. The doctor sided with the nurse and I flew my top. I told him if I couldn't see the chart I didn't want to see HIM either. He said, "If that's the way you feel, good-bye."

Please tell me if this is a common practice or if my doctor is just plain mean.—EAU CLAIRE, WIS.

Dear Eau Claire: I know of no physician who allows his patients to see the charts — and for very good reason.

A chart contains the doctor's impressions and suspicions. A patient might interpret these notations as a final diagnosis and be unduly concerned.

If you described the nurse's behaviour accurately she was unnecessarily rough with you. I think she owes you an apology — and you owe the doctor one.

Confidential to MARRYING FOR FREEDOM: You may find your self with LESS freedom than before, "Miss 19." True, your parents won't be able to bug you as in days of yore, but marriage carries with it some crushing responsibilities. What you have in mind could mean a more restrictive type of "imprisonment." Cool it, Sister.

Fire Rages Toward 31 Ranches

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (LAT) — Hundreds of firefighters massed on the southern perimeter of the Los Padres National Forest brush fire Wednesday in a battle to save 31 ranches from advancing flames.

Residents of the ranches were prepared to flee on short notice, but took some hope when thunderstorm showers came down Wednesday night.

The four-day-old blaze, ignited by a light plane crash which took two lives in the wilderness Saturday, had spread over 80,000 acres by Wednesday afternoon.

INJURIES
A total of 2,500 men were scattered along the 100-mile perimeter, much of which was inaccessible.

Sinatra Row

Fracas Victim 'Serious'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Detectives who hoped to question Frederick Weisman, who suffered a skull fracture in a row with singer Frank Sinatra, were told Wednesday they would have to wait "probably two or three more days."

Police chief Clinton Anderson said he was advised by doctors at Mt. Sinai Hospital that Weisman, 54, remained in serious condition and could not be questioned immediately.

BIRTHDAY

The doctors had expressed hope Tuesday that Weisman would be able to undergo interrogation Wednesday about the fracas which occurred in the Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel June 8.

However, Wednesday they said: "It probably will be two or three more days before Mr. Weisman will be able to undergo questioning."

Sinatra, who was helping pal Dean Martin celebrate Martin's 49th birthday at the cocktail lounge, told police Weisman, former president of Hunt Foods Inc., accused him of making too much noise and then hit the singer in the eye.

SUPPORTED

Sinatra said he did not strike Weisman and chief Anderson said several witnesses supported the singer's story.

The first major injuries to firefighters came late Tuesday, when a 2½-ton truck carrying 19 prisoners from a state prison went over an 1,800-foot cliff.

Eight men were taken to hospital but none of the injuries was critical.

WILDERNESS
They were among 1,100 prisoners fighting fires here and at dozens of less serious fires in Northern California.

Also in the truck when it ran off a temporary fire road were two National Guard soldiers and a U.S. Forest Service employee. They escaped serious injuries.

The greatest damage of the fire has been in virgin Chaparral Wilderness and timberlands, the refuge of wildlife ranging from deer to bear to the rare California Condor.

TANKERS

The army of firefighters was bolstered, 22 helicopters and using 50 ground tankers, 60 eight air tankers in an effort to halt the advancing flames.

The southern hot spot was within five miles of ranch structures. Fire boss Bill Hansen, superintendent of the National Forest, estimated that the fire was 35 per cent contained, mostly on the northern and western edges.

But he declined to speculate on when full containment could be expected.

The most vital factor, the weather, remained critical with the temperature in the 90s and winds of 10 to 20 m.p.h. Humidity was virtually nonexistent.

France Solves Dilemma

No Dead Issues

PARIS (Reuters) — France's highest medical authority has decided that a man whose heart is still beating may be ruled dead if it can be proved that his brain will never again be able to resume control of his vital functions.

The effect of the National Academy of Medicine's decision will be to permit French surgeons in certain clearly-defined cases to remove living organs for transplanting from men with no hope of life.

Doctors specializing in such grafting operations had been faced with a moral dilemma in deciding whether they were justified in removing vital organs—heart, lungs or liver—from a "dead" man who might technically be still alive.

KEEPS GOING

Modern medical apparatus enables such organs to be kept going by artificial means even when a patient's cerebral functions are totally extinguished.

The uncertainty was ended when the academy accepted the report of a special commission set up in January to define the symptoms of death in such special cases.

Prof. Francois de Gaudart d'Alaines, head of the commission, told the academy there are two ways of establishing the patient's death.

LOSS OF FUNCTIONS

"In certain cases, for example during the course of an operation, one has objective evidence of the definitive and irremediable loss of the functioning of organs indispensable to life.

Farmers Parade Over Prices

ST. MARYS, Ont. (CP) — More than 65 farmers with tractors concentrated in this southwestern Ontario town Wednesday morning and paraded the 20 miles along Highway 7 between Elginfield and Stratford.

The farmers were demonstrating their opposition to low milk prices.

The farmers want negotiations with the Ontario government on an established $4 a hundred-weight price for milk.

Complaints have been that the $4 price is "on paper only" and that a 75-cent subsidy from the government is not forthcoming.

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government Tuesday approved a $30,000,000 credit plan to help Indonesia rehabilitate its crippled economy. The credit will be extended in the form of commodities Indonesia urgently needs.

Big Springs Start Tipping Scales

Eighty-two-year-old Harry Turner's lead in the King Fisherman Contest spring (chub) division with a 37.1-pounder isn't likely to hold for very long.

The big springs are starting to appear in the Sooke to Oak Bay waters and there are some more big ones in Saanich Inlet.

Esquimalt angler Norman Martin came close to nudging out Mr. Turner's fish with a 35.1-pounder from Fleming Beach waters and still has high hopes he can take over the lead with a bigger fish this weekend.

First coho has been weighed in from Deep Cove—a 5.1-pounder, caught off the Deep Cove marker on Strip-Teaser by Clyde Brown.

Police Watch Wild Ride

City policemen outside the Fisgard station Tuesday night were among the witnesses who saw a car come into the street on the wrong side, collide with two cars and then flee the scene at a high speed.

Chase was given and James Lemon, HMCS Mackenzie, was arrested on Store after he had abandoned his car. Lemon pleaded guilty to criminal negligence, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and driving while disqualified.

NOT CONCURRENT

He was sentenced to one month in jail on each charge, the sentences to be not concurrent.

Constable John Markham said Lemon was driving south on Douglas and hit the rear of a car in front of him.

He made a right turn on to Fisgard and hit a car driven by Oak Bay coun. Frances Elford who was stopped for a red light on the other side of the road.

OUT OF CONTROL

"His car then went out of control and struck a parked car on the other side," Constable Markham said.

The parked car is owned by Salvation Army Brig. R. Thorne.

CAR ABANDONED

Lemon turned onto Store and almost hit a pedestrian, court was told. He abandoned his car on a nearby vacant lot and was captured after a chase.

Aggregate damage was about $1,600, Constable Markham said. Magistrate William Order, before jailing Lemon, said: "There is only one thing to do with such heinous and wicked conduct as this."

In addition to receiving the jail sentence, Lemon had his licence suspended for two years.

Donald Keith Logue, 3471 Seymour, was remanded without plea on a charge of assaulting William Mizewich, causing bodily harm. He will appear June 20. Bail was set at $300.

The charge claimed the assault took place Sunday afternoon on the Patricia Bay Highway, near the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Vernon Humphrey, 620 Huxley, elected trial by judge and jury on a charge of breaking into Ensign Motors June 8. The preliminary hearing will be held July 6.

The trial of John McGarvey of Sooke, who is facing 15 counts of false pretences, was delayed. Court was told that McGarvey was in hospital suffering a heart seizure. No date has been set for continuation.

Norman Gilchrist, 2517 Graham, started a chain accident when he smashed into the rear of a car at Pandora and Cook Tuesday night.

The other car was knocked forward, hitting a third car. Gilchrist pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $350. His licence was suspended.

Ronald Frost, 271 Durrance, was stopped after police noticed his car weaving on Douglas near Johnson Tuesday night. Frost pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $350. His licence was suspended.

Bernard Kylo, 1048 Pandora, was sentenced to 12 months in jail for possession of stolen property.

He had been placed on probation earlier for the offence but was jailed after court was told he had failed to keep the probation conditions.

The sentence will run concurrent with 12 months he is serving for assault.

TB Seal Grants Aid Researchers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Vancouver researchers have been awarded grants totalling $15,400 by the B.C. Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Society. Dr. Gordon Pirie of the University of B.C. medicine department and Dr. John Griffiths, a researcher at Vancouver general Hospital, received grants of $8,400 and $7,000 respectively for research into respiratory disease.

He pleaded guilty to supplying a minor with liquor. Poulin admitted supplying three minors and a juvenile girl with cider near his home May 14.

Charles Constable, 121 St. Andrew, was found by police slumped behind the wheel of his car on Douglas April 17.

He pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $300. His licence was suspended for three months.

James Kowatch, 19, HMCS Qu'Appelle, was fined $100 and his licence was suspended after he pleaded guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Court was told Kowatch struck a parked car on Hillside Tuesday night and failed to stop. He was located about two miles away.

Fined for being minors in possession of liquor: Frederick Byers, 1679 Cedar, $50; Yano Piccoli, 4225 Blenkinsop, $40. Fined for careless driving:

Joseph Williams, 726 Linkless, $40; Herman Wood, 562 Dupplin, $40; Kenneth Campbell, 501 Obed, $75 and licence suspended for two months; Albert Findlay, 986 Tolmie, $35; Margaret Lehelm, 2364 Millstream, $40; Ralph Stevens, 2531 Government, $35; Henry White, 2127 Vancouver, $40; Thomas Dwight, 245 Lascelles, $40.

Students Unwelcome Company

OTTAWA (CP) — The Company of Young Canadians should think twice before it sends bright-eyed university students into Indian reserves as community development officers, an NDP MP has warned.

Frank Howard, who represents the British Columbia riding of Skeena, told the Commons committee on Indian affairs that the student-run Neeslow project on western reserves had resulted in unfavorable reaction among the Indians.

Indians are living in one- or two-room houses without electricity, running water or septic tanks.

St. Lawrence Jam Unplugged

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's 4,250 longshoremen, who have been tying up millions of dollars worth of goods in three St. Lawrence River ports since May 9, will be back on the job today.

In Montreal Wednesday a mass meeting of cheering longshoremen voted to accept the terms of a settlement reached in Ottawa under the personal mediation of Prime Minister Pearson. A Montreal IILA spokesman said the men will be on the job at 8 a.m., ending the 33-day-old strike.

Later Wednesday, Quebec City's 450 longshoremen voted unanimously to accept the settlement and return to work today.

STARTED YESTERDAY

Longshoremen at Trois-Rivières, who voted Sunday night to accept an offer made by the Shipping Federation of Canada, began work at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Jean-Paul Walsh, president of the Quebec IILA local, called the settlement "a fabulous contract."

Quebec longshoremen will have wage parity with their 3,500 fellow-workers in Montreal for the first time. Formerly salaries were 10 cents an hour less than those paid in Montreal.

In brief, the contract gives longshoremen a pay increase of 40 cents retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966, plus an additional 15 cents an hour beginning Jan. 1, 1967 and 25 cents an hour more after May 1, 1967.

Quebec longshoremen will get 10 cents above this to bring their wages to parity with those paid in Montreal, who received an average basic rate of $2.53 in the old contract.

According to other terms work gangs—a main point of contention between the federation and the union—are not to be reduced until the contract ends Jan. 1, 1968.

TO NAME INQUIRY

A federal inquiry commission is to be appointed within the next few days to study the question of reduced work gangs and the effects of automation upon dock activities.

With ships stretched down river from Montreal in a line about 100 miles long, a frenzy of activity is expected in the ports early today. An IILA spokesman said the longshoremen may work until 11 p.m. each day until the ports resume regular schedules.

The harbor master said Wednesday 103 ships are tied up in Montreal alone. He estimated it will take two weeks to clear out the backlog.

The two big items on the docks for clearing once work is resumed are construction materials and prefabricated steel. Overseas exports of grain, now estimated to be 37,000,000 bushels behind schedule, should be back on schedule in about 10 days, said a spokesman for the Canadian wheat board.

Solicitor-General:

We Should Try More Fining Less Jailing

VANCOUVER (CP)—Solicitor-General Lawrence Pennell, QC, says he wants more fines, less imprisonment in the handling of Canadian criminal offenders.

Mr. Pennell said in an interview Wednesday studies are being made of the proposed Fraser Valley site for a new federal penitentiary.

MORE FINING

"We have to be a little bold to make progress," he said. "We should try a little more fining. These people are coming out of prison and into society. The solicitor-general is in Vancouver to open the B.C. Corrections Congress today. He also will inspect the new Matsqui Institution for Drug Addicts and the proposed Fraser Valley site for a new federal penitentiary.

DEBT TO PAY

He said more persons could be kept in society by the use of fines and made to carry on their community and family responsibilities while repaying their debts to society.

"It is worth trying, and then in the light of experience, we can plot our future course."

Attack in Carriage

Woman Stabs Baby In Face With Icepick

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A berserk woman with an icepick near Golden Gate Tuesday seriously wounded a baby and two women before being subdued by two police officers and an air force officer.

Mrs. Irene Warren, 28, said she took her eyes off her baby's carriage momentarily when suddenly "there was this overdressed woman with her head inside the carriage and it seemed as if she was hitting Steven," five months old.

The mother grappled with the unidentified woman and suffered stab wounds in the right thigh and left shoulder.

Steven was stabbed in the right temple and cheek.

Doctors at Children's Hospital told the father, Charles Warren, the child might lose the sight in his right eye.

Mrs. Norma White, 38, a visitor from Fort Orchard, Wash., who was in the crowd, suffered stab wounds in the neck and back after she found the woman with the ice pick "suddenly looking me straight in the eye."

Two Roman Catholic priests restrained the woman until police arrived.

Both Mrs. Warren and Mrs. White were listed in good condition.

The woman, about 30, was booked for investigation and confined in a psychiatric ward.

Viet Nam-Bound Seamen 'Violate' Labor Policy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress has been urged to condemn the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) for allowing its members to man a dredge going to Viet Nam under a U.S. government contract.

The call came Wednesday from the Vancouver Seamen's Union. The SIU announcement said the crew members are being paid from $1,000 to $1,400 a month — the highest wages ever paid unlicensed Canadian seamen.

David West, secretary of the CBRT seamen's local, said the SIU's action in manning the ship is contrary to the CLC's stated position of non-involvement in the Viet Nam conflict.

Mr. West urged the CLC to give careful study to the SIU action when the question of its re-affiliation comes up. The SIU is not at present a member of the labor organization but the CLC executive was authorized at its last convention to re-admit the seamen's union if it sees fit. The CBRT has been a major opponent of SIU re-admittance, and the two unions have engaged in bitter membership battles during recent years.

Campus Editor's Secret Earns Trial

EUGENE, Ore., (LAT) — A fact that made the user "more sensitive, aware, tender, appreciative of life?"

Student journalist Annette Buchanan Wednesday again refused to identify seven students who consider marijuana a social blessing, and will stand trial June 27 for keeping her secret.

The trial is expected to touch on issues ranging from constitutional questions to the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision guaranteeing the rights of suspects to counsel.

Also involved will be the fact that the blonde student from Seattle earned $5 dollars a month as managing editor of the campus newspaper, the Daily Emerald.

A contempt charge grew out of Miss Buchanan's refusal to answer three questions by the Lane County Grand Jury in an investigation of the use of drugs on and around the campus.

What are the names of the seven students she interviewed who found in smoking marijuana a "pleasurable ef-

What were the circumstances under which she wrote the article for the student paper?

Where were the interviews held?

Normally contempt of court trials are heard without a jury, however, Johnson said he will demand a jury trial.

Johnson said he will base his defense on five points, including one linked directly to Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision. He said Miss Buchanan was "deprived of the right to be represented by counsel before the grand jury."

He conceded the grand jury proceedings followed normal practice.

"But, he said, "the recent supreme court case raises a very serious question on whether she should have been represented. I had asked the court to be permitted to attend the session, but it was denied. Miss Buchanan said that to renege on her promise to the seven students to withhold their identities "would violate the canons of ethics of my profession of journalism."

She knew the first name of the sixth, and could identify, but not name, the seventh.

In her article, Miss Buchanan referred to the students as Joe, Bill, Sue, Ed, Max, Mike and "a girl in levis and sweatshirt."

Earth Cracks Swallowed Cow, Home

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — It began Jan. 3 when Mrs. Bonnie C. Stewart's cow disappeared into the earth. Eighteen days later the earth opened up beneath the modest home she and her blind husband occupied and broke it in two. They moved away. Since then, five other houses have broken apart or fallen into an abandoned limestone mine that runs beneath an irregular area approximately three-quarters of a mile long. It is perhaps half a mile wide in some places in the pleasant suburban area at the southwest outskirts of Kansas City. The latest disappearing act was Monday night. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Monty Flack plunged into a 90-foot hole. The Flacks moved out earlier when their garage fell into the abyss. "My father bought all these lots (almost a block) 12 years ago," said Mr. Ralph Crookham. "We knew the quarry was under us but it says right in our contract of sale that it was adequately supported by big pillars and there would be no sinkage."

There have been some 30 law-suits filed against the city. The earlier suits were against a construction company, and now perhaps Wyandotte County will become a defendant. The latest cave-ins are just beyond the city limits. The construction company denies ownership of the mine. The rock crushing company that started and operated the mine has been dissolved.

Efforts to inspect the mine have been stymied by legal entanglements. None of the residents voice any hope that their standard insurance policies will cover the losses.

Heavy Wind

Lakeside Floods Feared

GIMLI, Man. (CP) — Lake Winnipeg shore residents continued to raise sandbag dikes Wednesday, preparing for strong north winds that could push high water onto their land.

"We're bound between now and August to have four days of strong north winds," said Education Minister George Johnson.

"When that happens we're in trouble. It's the wave action of the wind that does the damage. With a four-day wind there would be the effect of a four-foot rise in the lake level."

STEADY

North winds of 12 miles an hour raised the lake level more than a foot Monday to 718.38 feet above sea level but the level dropped to 717.6 feet Wednesday and is expected to remain steady in light winds today.

Engineers and provincial water control officials made an aerial study of the situation Tuesday as sandbag operations moved into high gear at Gimli, Winnipeg Beach and Riverton.

More than 200,000 sandbags have been shipped to Riverton, where the Icelandic River has backed up from its mouth on Lake Winnipeg.

HARD HIT

The Howardville and Washow Bay areas 75 miles north of Winnipeg have been hardest hit by flood waters to date. Farmers in the area are moving cattle to public pasture lands at Mulvihill, 50 miles to the southwest.

Dr. Johnson represents Gimli constituency, which borders on Lake Winnipeg, in the provincial legislature.

He described the lake, the world's ninth largest with an area of 9,464 square miles, as "a great bathtub with a faucet at each end."

The faucets are the swollen Winnipeg and Saskatchewan Rivers, prime culprits in raising levels to the danger point.

Deluge Strikes Again

HONG KONG (Reuters) — More rain is reported on the way toward this sodden, battered British colony where last weekend's rains were feared to have claimed more than 80 victims.

A storm set off new landslides and flooding Wednesday. Sheets of rain renewed the pounding of Hong Kong's 4,000,000 inhabitants, with nearly an inch falling in 10 minutes. Much of the reconstruction work since Sunday's deluge was battered.

DEATH TOLL 52

Latest official figures placed the death toll at 52. Nine other persons were presumed dead and 18 listed as missing. The total of injured stood at 71. More houses collapsed and the estimates of property damage ran into millions of dollars.

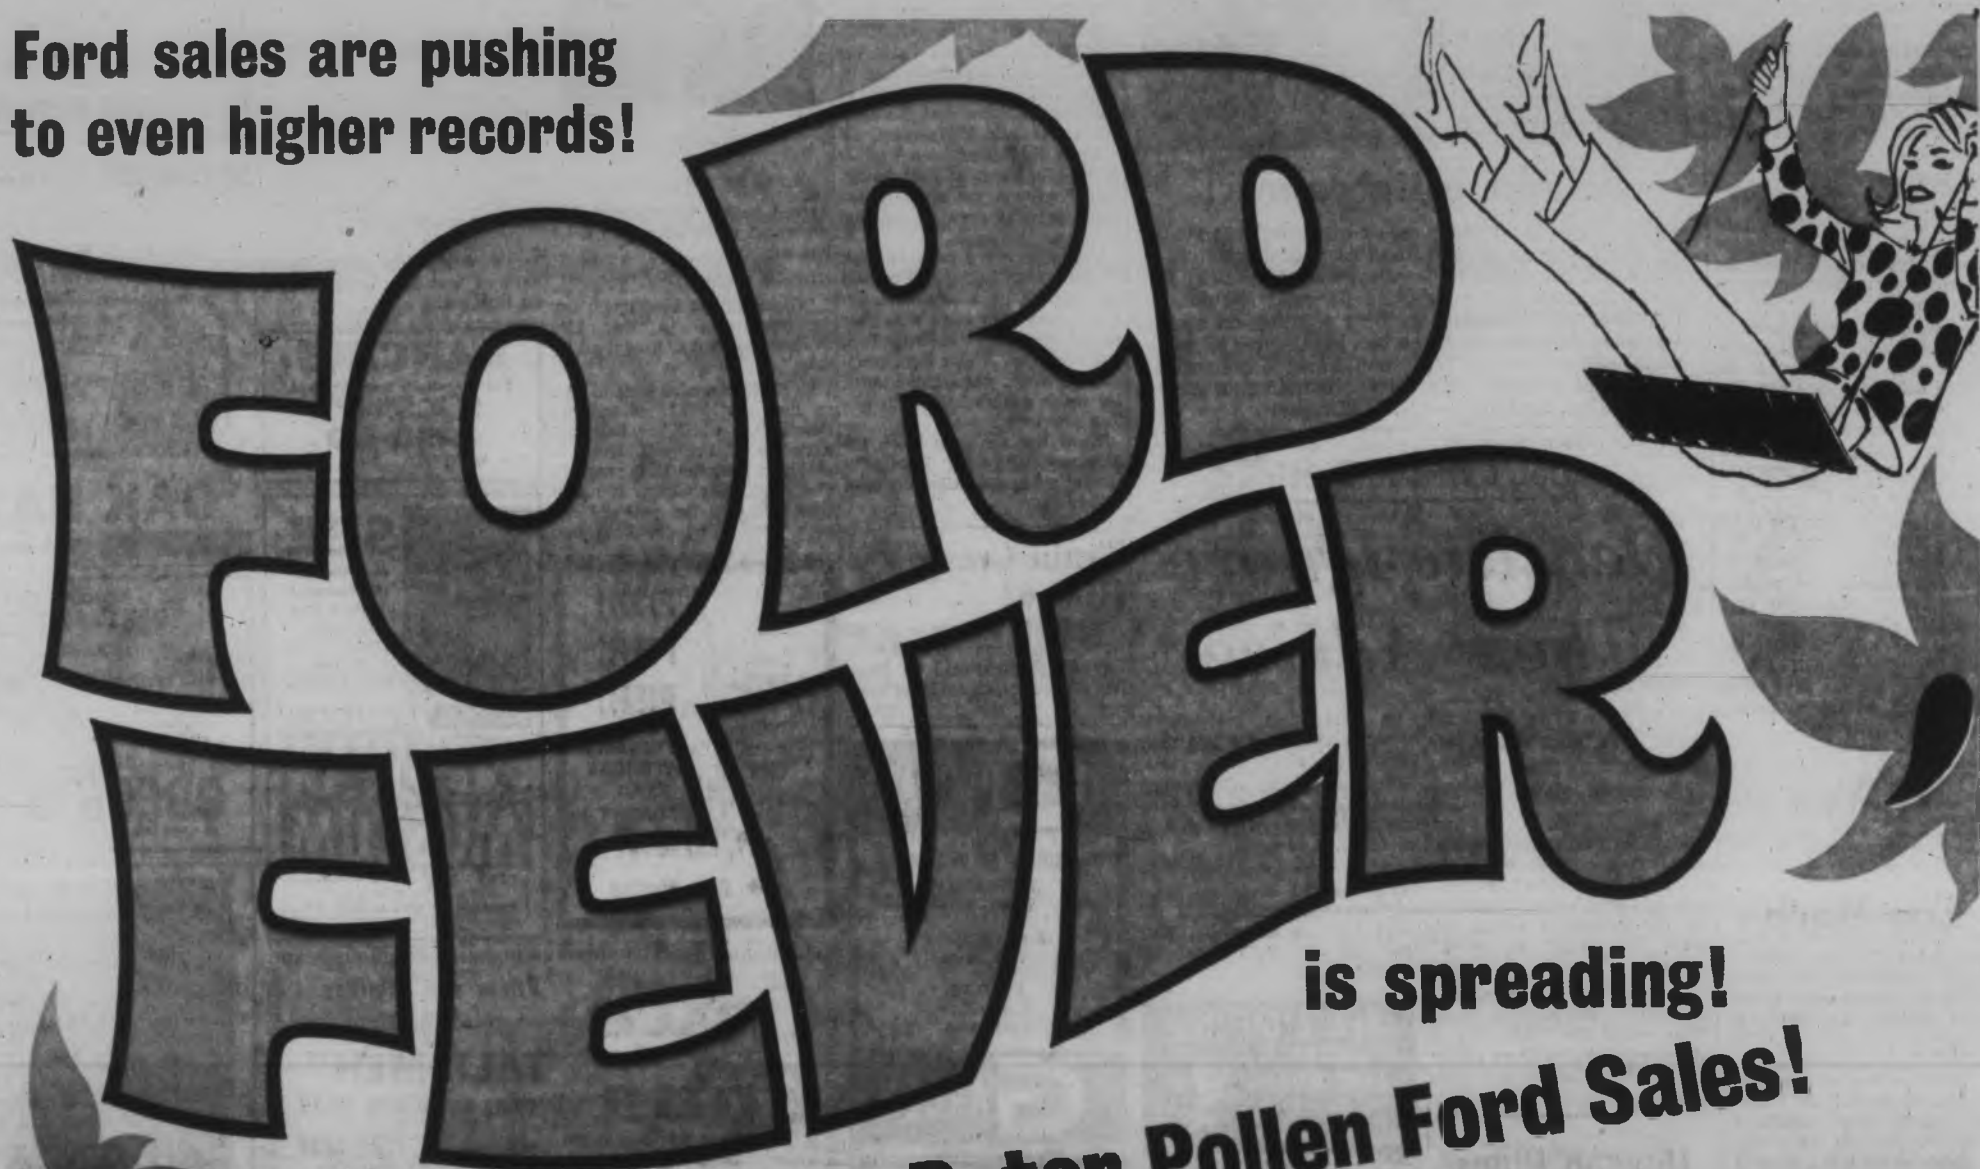

Flood police continued to scour. Even though water supplies were cut to eight hours a day, the authorities warned that consumption had reached alarming proportions, with filtration capacity strained to its limit.

Business life was gradually returning to normal, but all schools have been closed until next week.

Woman Fined For Cruelty

VANCOUVER (CP) — Magistrate Cyril White fined Mrs. Yolanda Bevilacqua, 34, of Vancouver $25 Tuesday after finding her guilty of causing unnecessary pain or suffering to an animal. Witnesses said she struck a three-month-old pup April 22 with a mop at her home. The pup later died.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESTNUT

Between the middle and end of June, practically every kind of plant we grow benefits from a feed of a fast-acting fertilizer of some sort. I don't think this has anything to do with the weather—it is just that the hectic flush of spring growth is about over, and while the plants are getting their second wind, a little tonic or pick-me-up is appreciated.

All the annual plants respond to this shot in the arm, from tomato plants to petunias; the tomatoes to help form and plump up this season's crop of fruits, the petunias to help maintain their extraordinary non-stop performance of blooming, which must be terribly exhausting. Trees and shrubs and bush fruits need feeding too, although in their case the effect will be seen more in next year's crop than in the crop they are carrying now.

Those fortunate gardeners who own a Root-Alder or a Root Feeder can inject liquid fertilizer into the soil around and under the roots, where it will do the most good, using the pressure of the hose. These are grand garden gadgets, and I wouldn't want to get along without one or the other of them.

If you don't have a root-feeding device to work off the garden hose, the alternative is to mix up a bucket of liquid fertilizer and ladle it around the roots with an old tin cup. Nowadays we have at least a dozen good brands of high-test soluble fertilizer on the market—pick whichever one takes your fancy.

These bear about the same relationship to ordinary bag fertilizer as instant coffee bears to all-purpose grind. And like instant coffee, it costs a lot of money for a rather small quantity, but a little of it goes a long way, and it dissolves instantly in water.

Mix according to the directions on the label—one tablespoonful per gallon is the usual dosage. In doing a closely-planted bed of flowers, I like to get down to it, sprawling at ease alongside the plants to be fed. I scratch a little depression in the soil around each plant, ladle a little fertilizer solution into this little ditch, then when it drains away, I scrape a little dry soil over the wetted ground to delay evaporation.

You'll have to use your own judgment as to how much fertilizer each plant should get, and this will vary according to the size of the plant and the range of its root system—the bigger the plant and the wider the spread of its roots, the more fertilizer it will require.

As a rough guide, I would say one cupful is enough for a petunia, a quart for a husky tomato plant or a small delphinium, two quarts for a peony, a black currant bush or a small shrub, and up to 15 gallons for a fair-sized tree. Don't forget it is the outermost roots that need the feeding, not the ones close in to the main stem.

Trees growing in the lawn pose something of a problem, for a quantity of fertilizer sufficient to benefit the tree would constitute a serious overdose for the lawn grasses. A hose-operated root feeder takes care of this nicely by injecting the nutrient fluid well below the grass roots.

Failing this, make a ring of crowbar holes in the sod around the tree, 12 inches deep and 18 inches apart, in the drip area well out under the tips of the branches, and pour about a quart of fertilizer solution in each hole. You can leave the holes for future feedings, or if they spoil the look of your lawn, you can fill them up with sand or dryish topsoil.

The motto of the Victoria Horticultural Society is "Show what you know," and the society implements its motto Friday and Saturday with its summer show at the Victoria Curling Club, 1952 Quadra Street. Actually, the official name of the affair is now the Summer Flower Show and Horticultural Exhibition, for it has developed far beyond a simple display of flowers. Gadgets and equipment are displayed too, along with all the latest miracle chemicals and even a display of garden books.

The doors of the Victoria Curling Club will be open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Admission is 50 cents and children accompanied by adults are admitted free.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Tall Girl Makes Good

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Vanessa Redgrave, the newest, most popular star, is six feet tall. This is unheard of in films where so many of the leading men have to wear built-up shoes so they won't have to look up to the leading lady. Vanessa, now starring for MGM in The Elbow-Grinder, has spent the last few years looking down like a lighthouse at the smaller talents that have failed to succeed. Since winning the best actress award at the Cannes film festival (for Morgan), Vanessa has received offers to star in 34 movies. When she comes to Hollywood in November to star in Camelot at Warner's, she will bring her two children, Jeely Kim, 3, and Natasha, 1. But husband Tony Richardson will probably not be coming, and one of the reasons is that he is busy directing films in Europe.

Paul Newman's Harper as big a hit in London as it has been in the U.S. His next, Cool Hand Luke, a western, will be made near Hollywood, which is why he and wife Joanne Woodward decided it would be simpler to buy than rent a home in Beverly Hills. They now own three pads—the house in Westport, Conn., and the big so-op in New York City. "Luke" is for Warner's, where not too long ago, Paul paid out $300,000 to get his career freedom. He is receiving much more than that for the new film.

Mike Nichols, who is only interested in the best, is after Alan Arkin, so good in The Russians Are Coming—before that on Broadway in Lav—wants him for a top role in Filmways Catch-22.

Tony Quinn is writing the word or talking it into a recording machine of his autobiography. Tony is a vigorous, forceful personality, and if he writes the way he lives, his story will make good reading.

The Gertrude Lawrence Story will location for a brief time only in England, this winter. At one time, the entire picture was to be made there. But the star, Julie Andrews, prefers California for a steady diet of living. She has a lovely home here and has never set foot in the London mansion she bought with Tony Walton before she became one of the biggest stars. You can't blame her for preferring to live here. Hollywood has been good to her. And vice versa.

Another Hollywood lover, Dick Shawn, is moving his family here from New Jersey, and saying no to all TV and night club bids. After 17 years on the road and night clubs, he is going all out for motion pictures. He stars in What Did You Do in the War Daddy, now making the Bel Air circuit—i.e., private projection rooms—and currently is working with Natalie Wood in Penelope.

When E. J. Wagner returns from Italy and The Biggest Bundle of Them All—one of the bundles in Remounted—he will star in a TV series at Universal with R.J. playing a playboy-career diplomat. I didn't know there was any such animal.

All the choicest tidbits will emanate from London this summer because Frank Sinatra will be there in his Mayfair town house while starring in The Naked Runner. It will be interesting to see whether he insists on "continental" shooting hours—working from noon to seven instead of the usual Hollywood schedule of nine to six. Frankie is a night boy. Can't go to bed early, can't get up early. When he finishes his picture, he will fly to Turin, Italy, to pick up his new $20,000 sports car, designed to Sinatra's specifications. It's hard to know how to spend your money when you have so much.

ART BUCHWALD and the College Boy

Reality Ends Anger

WASHINGTON — A lot of proud parents are showing up this month at university commencement exercises throughout the land. I was sitting next to a beaming couple last week and during the ceremonies I struck up a conversation.

"You must be very happy today," I said to the father.

"Oh, I am. Martha and I have waited all our lives for this moment when Peter would graduate from college."

"Which one up there is Peter?"

"He's not there," the father replied. "He walked out when Secretary McNamara started to make the commencement speech."

"That's a shame," I said. "I guess you and your wife are pretty upset."

"Oh, no. He told us he originally planned to be down across the podium, so we're very grateful he decided on a non-violent protest."

"I'll bet you scrimped and saved to put Peter through college."

"Actually, the tuition wasn't too bad. We had set aside for that. But it was pretty hard to get up the ball money every time Peter got arrested. We managed though except for the time he burned his draft card."

"He had to stay in jail for that one?"

"I'm afraid so. It wasn't just burning his draft card that got the administration angry. Peter accidentally burned down the gym with it."

"It must have played back with the basketball schedule," I said.

"It did. But when Peter got out he started a freedom committee to burn down gymnasiums, and about a fourth of the school signed up."

"What did Peter major in while he was in college?"

"He started out majoring in Modern Anarchy, but he found it was too restrictive, so he took a straight liberal arts course with a minor in Nietzsche. Martha wanted him to study law, but Peter said, 'There are no laws.' And that was the end of it."

"Peter sounds like he's got a mind of his own."

"I think you could say that. He's the only one in his class who stopped two troop trains going in opposite directions at the same time on the Atchafalaya, Topeka, and the Santa Fe."

"You have to have convictions to do that," I said.

"You also have to have long legs," the father said. "Peter then walked from Anchorage to Nome, Alaska, because he claimed the Alaskans wouldn't let the Eskimos vote. And he also sat in Gov. Romney's office for two nights as a protest against capital punishment."

"But Michigan doesn't have capital punishment."

"That's what Gov. Romney kept telling him."

"It must have been an interesting four years for you."

"I guess you could say that, particularly during school vacations when Peter found it hard to get LSD."

"Now that Peter's finished college, what does he plan to do?" I asked.

"He's applied for training jobs with IBM, Time-Life Inc., and the Ford Motor Co. He figures there's a much better future with a large corporation than trying to start out on your own."

House Hears Pension Plea

OTTAWA (CP)—A plea that war pensions be paid to any veteran no matter what his income was made in the Commons Wednesday by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker.

His plea came as the House approved the 1966-67 spending estimates of the veterans affairs department and those of citizenship and immigration. MPs also got started on finance department estimates before the sitting came to an end at 6 p.m.

Mr. Diefenbaker made his point while the $369,496,700 estimates of veterans affairs were before the House.

The annual income ceilings to qualify for allowances are: Single veterans, widows and widowers, $1,596; married, $2,664; one orphan, $1,008; two orphans, $1,608; three or more orphans, $2,016.

Male veterans qualify at 60, females at 55. Both categories qualify earlier if they have disabilities affecting their employment.

The maximum rate paid a veteran or widow who is single is $34 a month. The top married benefit is $161.

"These men feel a sense of deep injustice," said Mr. Diefenbaker. Many were pushed over the income ceiling when they began receiving the $75-a-month old age pension.

Mr. Diefenbaker appealed to Veterans Affairs Minister Tillet to do something effective. The Commons adjourned before the minister could reply.

H. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West), who wears a glove to cover a First World War wound, praised the department for having "pioneered in the development of artificial limbs."

C. W. Carter (L—Burin-Burgeo) asked Mr. Tillet to consider changes in the regulations concerning civilian war allowances so that greater numbers of Newfoundland Forsters could qualify. The regiment's military contributions came before the province joined Canada.

Other regulations on length of service disallowed certain First World War veterans from allowances and these should be amended, he said. To cover all survivors of that war in Canada, at most would cost some 7,000, 000 annually and likely only half increased pensions for Hong Kong veterans. He said they would have earnings above the ceiling.

Henri Latulippe (Creditiste—Compton-Frontenac) called for action.

Watchdog Latest Loot As Thieves Strike Again

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI)—Builder Luigi Branciforte was fed up after burglars hit his office four times in two months. So he went out and spent $100 for a pedigree German shepherd watchdog.

Branciforte reported to police Tuesday that his watchdog was stolen—leash and all.

Ground Fish Landings Highest Ever

NANAIMO — Weekly records for the landing of ground fish were broken last week, according to figures released by officials of the federal department of fisheries.

During the period June 5-11, 1,550,000 pounds of trawl caught fish were landed in Vancouver and Steveston. The previous high figures was 1,225,000 pounds landed in the week of Aug. 29 to Sept. 5, 1965. This week's record landing included 768,500 pounds of grey cod, 387,400 pounds of ling cod, 269,200 sole, 98,000 ocean perch and 2,700 pounds of other species.

Landings so far this year are about 6,000,000 pounds ahead of the previous high year 1965.

Wilson Wins Party Backing

U.K. Will Stay East of Suez

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson routed Wednesday rebels in his Labor party demanding a British military withdrawal from Asia.

In a wide-ranging defence of policies, Wilson pledged to work for neutralization of Southeast Asian trouble spots, including Viet Nam.

The British leader faced the first major challenge to his leadership since winning power 20 months ago. His party caucus, made up of Labor MPs, handsomely endorsed his policy of maintaining a British military presence east of Suez. The vote was 225 to 54.

A major buildup had preceded the secret showdown with left, right and centre elements of the party joining in a demand for a "decisive reduction" of British defence spending east of Suez by 1969-1970, including withdrawal from Singapore, Malaysia and the Persian Gulf. The middle-road Liberals and some opposition Conservatives also favored a phased British pull-back from Asia.

Wilson spoke of the Viet Nam war and announced Britain will dissociate herself from any American bombing of North Vietnamese "centres of civilian population." The Americans have been advised of this and they fully understand it.

In another reference he suggested, without elaboration, the diplomats are getting busy yet again in quest of a Viet Nam parity.

American State Secretary Rusk, he said, told him only Friday—and has since repeated publicly—he is ready to go to

Barzel

German Drops 'Bomb'

BONN (Reuters)—Rainer Barzel, parliamentary leader of West Germany's ruling Christian Democrats, dropped a bombshell today with radical proposals for a reunited Germany in which Soviet troops still could be based.

The West German capital was stunned when an advance report was circulated of a speech Barzel was due to make in the West German embassy in Washington and again Friday in New York.

Informed sources said Barzel, widely tipped as a future chancellor, had not cleared his speech in advance with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

His speech contained proposals on German reunification—the dominating issue in German politics—which go far beyond anything ever mooted by Erhard or his predecessor, Konrad Adenauer, although some are similar to the views of the party's coalition allies, the Free Democrats.

Barzel suggested Bonn should take over Communist East Germany's long-term trade agreement with the Soviet Union on a 20-year basis, as a step towards reunification.

He also proposed that expert all-German commissions be formed to draft plans for the future of Germany on behalf of the wartime Big Four, the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, and France, Germany's principal conquerors at the end of the Second World War.

Simultaneously, the three Western powers and West Germany should form a working group to study all proposals so far made for a German settlement and prepare a joint approach to Moscow.

Barzel's blueprint also suggests that the Communist party, now banned in West Germany, should be free to operate throughout the country.

Political observers in Bonn said Barzel's proposals were a joint approach to Moscow.

Ky Forces Move In At Hue

SAIGON (CP)—Amid signs of disarray among dissident Buddhists, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam moved in paratroops today to take over their northern stronghold of Hue.

Hijacker Executed

HAVANA (Reuters)—A Cuban flight engineer, who tried to hijack an airliner to Miami in March, was executed by firing squad Wednesday. Angel Maria Betancourt Cuello killed the plane's pilot and guard in his abortive attempt.

Ky's position was strengthened by his military government's decision to extend its term of office until 1967, thereby backing his plan for a step-by-step return to civilian rule.

The paratroops, about 500 strong, swooped on Hue at dawn. The predominantly Buddhist population of 160,000 greeted their arrival with a noisy demonstration, beating with sticks on tin cans and other metal objects.

Dutch Use Tear Gas Against Rioting Youth

AMSTERDAM (Reuters)—Police used tear gas against more than 1,000 rioters who surged through the streets of this Dutch capital Wednesday night for the third successive night, smashing property indiscriminately.

All police leave was cancelled and reinforcements were called from outside the city.

Police said between 5,000 and 6,000 persons crowded the streets. More than 1,500 police charged bands of rampaging youths.

Some reports said the rioters were mainly provocateurs in leather jackets, who Tuesday night joined with bands of building workers to wreck stores and batter police with paving stones.

The youths countered Wednesday night's tear gas charge by re-erecting barricades.

An urgent session of the Dutch cabinet was called in The Hague Wednesday night to consider emergency measures.

Talks Ended Escalation

U.S. Salutes Pig War

By ARCH MACKENZIE
WASHINGTON (CP)—The Canadian-American pig war of 1859 wasn't much of a campaign—one shot fired in anger and the lone casualty a Canadian poacher.

But it is represented in history as a classic case of settling military escalation by international arbitration.

And the U.S. Congress moved closer Wednesday to creating a fitting memorial in the shape of a national park on the battlefield on San Juan Island, just off Victoria.

The necessary bill was approved by the House of Representatives' committee on interior and insular affairs and now awaits House approval.

The pig war arose from the Oregon Boundary Settlement Treaty of 1846. This further step in defining the international boundary left unsettled the ownership of assorted islands between Vancouver Island and Washington State.

The Hudson's Bay Co. and Canadian and American settlers had disputing claims and in 1859, an American farmer named Cutler gunned down a Hudson's Bay pig which was laying waste to his garden.

Escalation set in.

Authorities from Victoria tried to arrest Cutler and the American settlers called for help.

A company of American troops arrived.

A British man-of-war then took up a threatening position. The Americans retaliated by importing cannon.

British Admiral Bayne and American General Winfield Scott, applying cooler heads, agreed on 100-man garrisons for each side and the Treaty of Washington turned the whole affair over to the German emperor for arbitration, which gave the island to the U.S.

Fulton

Condemned Man Waits

'I Believe in Hanging... But Not Me'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Roger Alan Fulton, 25, believes there is a strong possibility he will walk down death row, through the "green door" leading to an abandoned elevator shaft and be hanged.

He says there is nothing he can do about it.

Fulton is a murderer who believes in capital punishment in certain cases—but not his.

He regrets his fatal shooting of Jan Kelderman, father of four, during an armed holdup in May, 1965, but he is not sure the federal cabinet will be any more impressed than were 11 of the 12 on the jury which convicted him of capital murder last October.

The Supreme Court of Canada this week refused to grant him a new trial.

He is due to be hanged Aug. 9 unless the cabinet grants him clemency and the federal ministers must take into account that Parliament recently voted to retain capital punishment.

Fulton's feelings were given in an interview with lawyer Charles Maclean at British Columbia penitentiary recently.

The fact that only one juror voted for leniency at his trial "greatly increased my chances of being executed," he said.

The slender, blonde man who has been in trouble with the law since he stole some candy in Winnipeg at the age of six, said he believes the others were influenced by the fact that his actions left a widow and four children and that his inarticulate nature prevented him from showing his regret.

Fulton said he was shocked when Parliament in April voted to retain capital punishment. He believes he should not be executed because he did not deliberately slay Kelderman during a one-man robbery of a

Wilson Fails In Strike Bid

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson apparently failed Wednesday night in a new attempt to get leaders of Britain's striking seamen to promise an early end to their walkout under a compromise agreement.

Wilson made an appeal to the nine-man negotiating committee of the National Union of Seamen, summoned to his office in a last-minute move before using the emergency powers granted the government by Parliament.

After a two-hour parley at 10 Downing Street, William Hogarth, union secretary general, said he is not optimistic that his executive committee will vote for peace when it meets today.

He said it is unlikely any decision for or against continuing the tie-up, now in its 32nd day, would be known before Friday.

Later, Wilson talked to the shipowners in his efforts to bring agreement on the seamen's demands for more pay and shorter working hours.

Officials said Wilson warned the union leaders that last week's compromise offer from an impartial court of inquiry was the limit of concessions the government is prepared to make.

Only Wages Now in Dispute As Seaway Strike Nears

OTTAWA (CP)—Mediation talks in the St. Lawrence Seaway dispute adjourned unexpectedly Wednesday and were due to resume at 10 a.m. EDT today with a strike deadline only 26 hours away.

Senator Norman MacKenzie, the federal mediator, told reporters that non-monetary issues had been cleared away and both sides had been given extra time to prepare their arguments on the wage question.

Bruce MacRae of Toronto, chief federal conciliation officer for Ontario, said the talks are working against a deadline of 10 p.m. tonight.

"If we haven't had a settlement by that time they'll have

Deadline Tonight For Talks

President W. J. Smith of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) said the talks had entered a critical stage. There was no indication how long they might go on.

The 1,200 operating employees on the Canadian sections of the international waterway are set to walk off the job at noon EDT Friday unless a new contract is signed.

Chief item in dispute is the union's demand for a 35-per-cent wage increase over two years. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, a government agency, has agreed to accept a conciliation board recommendation for an immediate seven-per-cent raise and a further seven per cent in 1967.

VC Owner Broke, Parts with Medal

TORONTO (CP)—A Victoria Cross presented to the winner personally by Queen Victoria has come into the hands of Toronto collector Albert Rosen.

He said it was turned over to him by a man he would identify only as a former Vancouver man who was an RCAF officer in the Second World War and who now is broke.

He said the man refused an offer of $2,000 for it and stipulated it be sold to someone who will return it to the Black Watch Regiment headquarters in Glasgow. It was presented in 1874-18 years after the award was instituted — to L. Sgt. Samuel McGew for gallantry in battle.

Mr. Rosen said the present owner is a descendant of McGew, who received the medal from the hands of the Queen on the Isle of Wight.

Postponement Denied, Arena Vote Saturday

By KLAUS MÜENTER
NORTH COWICHAN — Council Wednesday decided to refuse a plea from the Southend Ratepayers' Association which asked for a 60-day postponement of Saturday's $330,000 arena vote for residents in the Chemainus, Crofton and Westholme areas.

The arena would be built at Fuller's Lake near Chemainus.

The referendum will also establish a North Cowichan (Chemainus) recreation area with a merging clause.

Almost two weeks ago Southend ratepayers at a meeting voiced their disagreement with the vote and a member of that group said at that time "council is being subjected to pressure by a minority group."

The Appeal Court also ruled that Mrs. English is liable for court costs which could run as high as $12,000.

Lantzville Student

Mexico Beckons Girl Guide

By PETER TAYLOR

NANAIMO — A Lantzville Girl Guide cadet has been chosen as one of two Canadian girls to represent this country at jamborees this summer in Mexico and the United States.

Helen Woollard, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted

Woollard, will be leaving July 1 for the six-week trip.

A first-year bio-chemistry student at the University of Victoria, Helen is a member of the Greater Victoria Cadet Company.

Cadets are a new concept in Guiding, and Helen described them as Guide leaders in training.

While in Mexico she will stay with a local family at Mexico City then go on to the Juliette Low session at the Cuernavaca.

The tour will end with a three-week stay at Fort Smith, Ark., with the Girl Scouts of America.

Helen is making the trip with another Guide from Quebec, and they are being sponsored by the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Juliette Low was responsible for introducing Girl Scouts to the United States.

At the cabana every country in North, South and Central America will be sending two Guide representatives, except the U.S., which will be sending six.

Helen is a graduate of Nanaimo senior high school, and has been interested in Guiding for the past ten years. She has 25 proficiency badges, including the coveted Gold Card, which she earned with the First Lantzville Company.

Her hobbies include music, especially playing the clarinet, and outdoor sports.

She said, "We have project assignments to tell the girls from other countries what we do in Guiding in Canada."

Labor Establishes Emergency Body

PORT ALBERNI — At the regular meeting Tuesday night of the Port Alberni and District Labor Council the council officially re-established its labor emergency committee.

This committee co-ordinated the efforts of the affiliated local unions during the labor turmoil in the Alberni Valley in 1964.

At that time, a seven-week strike by office employees of Macmillan Bloedel's pulp and paper operation tied up some 80 per cent of the area's industry.

MEETING

The first meeting of the committee was scheduled to be held Wednesday night. Unions represented on the committee include Local 592 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp

Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, Local 686 of the United Paper Workers, Local 727 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, Local 513 of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 503 of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, Local 230 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as well as Local 1-85 of the International Woodworkers of America.

The labor council also offered congratulations to Mr. Valerie Hill and those women of the Alberni Valley who have worked with her to establish a committee to deal with prices in the Alberni Valley.

The labor council pledged its full support in assisting the women in their endeavours.

The second meeting of the women's group, which has no union or political affiliations, will be held in the IWA Hall today at 7:30 p.m.

Wilson Wins Party Backing

'World Too Small'

U.K. Will Stay East of Suez

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson routed Wednesday rebels in his Labor party demanding a British military withdrawal from Asia.

In a wide-ranging defence of policies, Wilson pledged to work for neutralization of Southeast Asian trouble spots, including Viet Nam.

The British leader faced the first major challenge to his leadership since winning power 20 months ago. His party caucus, made up of Labor MPs, handsomely endorsed his policy of maintaining a British military presence east of Suez. The vote was 225 to 54.

A major buildup had preceded the secret showdown with left, right and centre elements of the party joining in a demand for a "decisive reduction" of British defence spending east of Suez by 1969-1970, including withdrawal from Singapore, Malaysia and the Persian Gulf. The middle-road Liberals and some opposition Conservatives also favor a phased British pull-back from Asia.

Wilson spoke of the Viet Nam war and announced Britain will dissociate herself from any American bombing of North Vietnamese "centres of civilian population." The Americans have been advised of this and they fully understand it.

In another reference he suggested, without elaboration, the diplomats are getting busy yet again in quest of a Viet Nam parley.

American State Secretary Rusk, he said, told him only Friday—and has since repeated publicly—he is ready to go to

BOMBSHELL HITS BONN

One-Germany Plan

BONN (Reuters)—Rainer Barzel, parliamentary leader of West Germany's ruling Christian Democrats, dropped a bombshell today with radical proposals for a reunited Germany in which Soviet troops still could be based.

The West German capital was stunned when an advance report was circulated of a speech Barzel was due to make in the West German embassy in Washington and again Friday in New York.

Informed sources said Barzel, widely tipped as a future chancellor, had not cleared his speech in advance with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

His speech contained proposals on German reunification—the dominating issue in German politics—which go far beyond anything ever mooted by Erhard or his predecessor, Konrad Adenauer, although some are similar to the views of the party's coalition allies, the Free Democrats.

Barzel suggested Bonn should take over Communist East Germany's long-term trade agreement with the Soviet Union on a 20-year basis, as a step towards reunification.

He also proposed that expert all-German commissions be formed to draft plans for the future of Germany on behalf of the wartime Big Four, the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, and France, Germany's principal conquerors at the end of the Second World War.

Simultaneously, the three Western powers and West Germany should form a working group to study all proposals so far made for a German settlement and prepare a joint approach to Moscow.

Barzel's blueprint also suggests that the Communist party, now banned in West Germany, should be free to operate throughout the country.

Ky Forces Move In At Hue

SAIGON (CP)—Amid signs of disarray among dissident Buddhists, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam moved in paratroops today to take over their northern stronghold of Hue.

HAVANA (Reuters)—A Cuban flight engineer, who tried to hijack an airliner to Miami in March, was executed by firing squad Wednesday.

Angel Maria Betancourt Cuello killed the plane's pilot and guard in his abortive attempt.

Ky's position was strengthened by his military government's decision to extend its term of office until 1967, thereby backing his plan for a step-by-step return to civilian rule.

The paratroops, about 500 strong, swooped on Hue at dawn. The predominantly Buddhist population of 160,000 greeted their arrival with a noisy demonstration, beating with sticks on tin cans and other metal objects.

Dutch Use Tear Gas Against Rioting Youth

AMSTERDAM (Reuters)—Police used tear gas against more than 1,000 rioters who surged through the streets of this Dutch capital Wednesday night for the third successive night, smashing property indiscriminately.

All police leave was cancelled and reinforcements were called from outside the city.

Police said between 5,000 and 6,000 persons crowded the streets. More than 1,500 police charged bands of rampaging youths.

Some reports said the rioters were mainly provocateurs in leather jackets, who Tuesday night joined with bands of building workers to wreck stores and batter police with paving stones.

The youths countered Wednesday night's tear gas charge by re-erecting barricades.

An urgent session of the Dutch cabinet was called in The Hague Wednesday night to consider emergency measures.

Air Canada Agreement Ends Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—A compromise agreement on wage increases was reached between Air Canada and 1,453 of its sales employees late Wednesday night, only minutes before the midnight deadline for a strike that threatened to ground the airline.

A spokesman for the Sales Employees Association said representatives of both sides still had to iron out minor details of the agreement, but the strike was called off when the airline agreed to a 15-per-cent increase in wages, spread over 26 months.

An eight-per-cent increase would be retroactive to June 1 and an additional seven per cent would take effect after 12 months.

In addition, a retroactive cash settlement of $150 to $250, depending on seniority, would be paid for the six months since Dec. 1, 1965, when the last contract expired.

NO DETAILS
He was unable to give details on the other points in the contract, or say whether the union had won its bid for a 37½-hour work week.

Sales employees set up picket lines at Montreal International Airport in suburban Dorval as the midnight deadline went by.

WAITED FOR WORD
Shortly after midnight, word went around that a settlement had been reached. But picketing continued until one of the organizers got official word of the agreement.

The union had previously asked for a yearly 10-per-cent increase in a two-year contract.

Wilson Fails In Strike Bid

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Wilson apparently failed Wednesday night in a new attempt to get leaders of Britain's striking seamen to promise an early end to their walkout under a compromise agreement.

Wilson made an appeal to the nine-man negotiating committee of the National Union of Seamen, summoned to his office in a last-minute move before using the emergency powers granted the government by Parliament.

After a two-hour parley at 10 Downing Street, William Hogarth, union secretary general, said he is not optimistic that his executive committee will vote for peace when it meets today.

He said it is unlikely any decision for or against continuing the tie-up, now in its 32nd day, would be known before Friday.

Later, Wilson talked to the shipowners in his efforts to bring agreement on the seamen's demands for more pay and shorter working hours.

Officials said Wilson warned the union leaders that last week's compromise offer from an impartial court of inquiry was the limit of concessions the government is prepared to make.

Only Wages Now in Dispute As Seaway Strike Nears

OTTAWA (CP)—Mediation talks in the St. Lawrence Seaway dispute adjourned unexpectedly Wednesday and were due to resume at 10 a.m. EDT today with a strike deadline only 25 hours away.

Senator Norman MacKenzie, the federal mediator, told reporters that non-monetary issues had been cleared away and both sides had been given extra time to prepare their arguments on the wage question.

Bruce MacRae of Toronto, chief federal conciliation officer for Ontario, said the talks are working against a deadline of 10 p.m. tonight.

"If we haven't had a settlement by that time they'll have to start clearing shipping out of the canals." Senator MacKenzie, former president of the University of British Columbia, was smiling and cheerful when he opened the door of the meeting room in the Chateau Laurier and reported that the talks were completed for the day.

President W. J. Smith of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CBRTGW) said the talks had entered a critical stage. There was no indication how long they might go on.

The 1,200 operating employees on the Canadian sections of the international waterway are set to walk off the job at noon EDT Friday unless a new contract is signed.

Chief item in dispute is the union's demand for a 35-per-cent wage increase over two years. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, a government agency, has agreed to accept a conciliation board recommendation for an immediate seven-per-cent raise and a further seven per cent in 1967.

Talks Ended Escalation

U.S. Salutes Pig War

By ARCH MACKENZIE
WASHINGTON (CP)—The Canadian-American pig war of 1859 wasn't much of a campaign—one shot fired in anger and the lone casualty a Canadian porker.

But it is represented in history as a classic case of settling military escalation by international arbitration.

And the U.S. Congress moved closer Wednesday to creating a fitting memorial in the shape of a national park on the battlefield on San Juan Island, just off Victoria.

The necessary bill was approved by the House of Representatives' committee on interior and insular affairs and now awaits House approval.

The pig war arose from the Oregon Boundary Settlement Treaty of 1846. This further step in defining the international boundary left unsettled the ownership of assorted islands between Vancouver Island and Washington State.

The Hudson's Bay Co. and Canadian and American settlers had disputing claims and in 1859, an American farmer named Cutler gunned down a Hudson's Bay pig which was laying waste to his garden.

Escalation set in.

Authorities from Victoria tried to arrest Cutler and the American settlers called for help. A company of American troops arrived.

A British man-of-war then took up a threatening position. The Americans retaliated by importing cannon.

British Admiral Bayne and American General Winfield Scott, applying cooler heads, agreed on 100-man garrisons for each side and the Treaty of Washington turned the whole affair over to the German emperor for arbitration, which gave the island to the U.S.

VC Owner Broke, Parts with Medal

TORONTO (CP)—A Victoria Cross presented to the winner personally by Queen Victoria has come into the hands of Toronto collector Albert Rosen.

He said it was turned over to him by a man he would identify only as a former Vancouver man who was an RCAF officer in the Second World War and who now is broke.

He said the man refused an offer of $2,000 for it and stipulated it be sold to someone who will return it to the Black Watch Regiment headquarters in Glasgow. It was presented in 1874—18 years after the award was instituted—to L. Sgt. Samuel McGaw for gallantry in battle.

Mr. Rosen said the present owner is a descendant of McGaw, who received the medal from the hands of the Queen on the Isle of Wight.

Fulton

Condemned Man Waits

'I Believe in Hanging... But Not Me'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Roger Allan Fulton, 25, believes there is a strong possibility he will walk down death row, through the "green door" leading to an abandoned elevator shaft and be hanged.

He says there is nothing he can do about it.

Fulton is a murderer who believes in capital punishment in certain cases—but not his. He regrets his fatal shooting of Jan Kelderman, father of four, during an armed holdup in May, 1965, but he is not sure the federal cabinet will be any more impressed than were 11 of the 12 on the jury which convicted him of capital murder last October.

The Supreme Court of Canada this week refused to grant him a new trial.
